

WOMAN MISSING CITY DOCUMENTS

Left Her Room at Night---May Cannot be Compiled as Required by Ordinance

Miss Mary McNespie, aged 36 years, and employed as a domestic, is missing, and the police, to whom the matter was reported, fear that her body is now in the bed of the Merrimack river. Miss McNespie of late has been residing with her sister, Mrs. Bridget Moran, in Dover street, near the Tewksbury line, and but a short distance from the Merrimack river. Some time late Thursday night or early Friday morning she left the house and has not been seen or heard from since that time.

The appearance of the room which she occupied and the finding of clothes which she was in the habit of wearing would indicate that she had left the house in her night attire. It is felt that she was suffering from somnambulism and some time during the night or early morning walked into the river and was drowned.

Until Charity Board "Loosens Up" and Has its Annual Report Printed

The charity department in its effort to save money bids fair to make the city ridiculous in the eyes of the other cities of the commonwealth, along with violating a provision of the ordinances relative to public documents. At a recent meeting of the board Commissioner Howe called attention to the fact that while the annual report of the department for 1908 has been in the safe in the office of the board for over four months it has not been printed and distributed as yet and hence the state statistician has nothing to show that Lowell has a pauper department or any paupers. Mr. Howe's suggestions, the waste basket, figuratively speaking, and the report still remains hidden away in the safe while the city clerk will not be able to complete his city documents until the report of the pauper department has been printed.

The ordinances bearing on the matter are as follows: Chapter VIII - City Documents. Sec. 5. All city documents (except the rules and regulations for the government of the police and fire departments) shall be printed in pamphlet form of the size of the annual report of the school board. Sec. 6. All city documents shall be bound together in one volume under the direction of the city clerk and three or more copies placed in the city library; and one copy in the library of the Middlesex Mechanics association. One copy shall be sent to each city in the commonwealth, the library at Harvard college, the public library at Boston, the state library, the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and the Old Residents' Historical society of Lowell.

IN POLICE COURT

Snatch Thief Ran Off With Box of Cigars

P. V. McCarthy was arraigned before Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with drunkenness and the larceny of a box of cigars, the property of Calderwood & Robbins. McCarthy entered Calderwood & Robbins' store in Merrimack square early yesterday afternoon, ostensibly for the purpose of purchasing a pipe. While Mr. Calderwood went to get the pipe for the man, McCarthy picked up a box of cigars and rushed out of the store.

Mr. Calderwood followed him out and called to some men to catch him. Patrolman Daniel Lynch caught McCarthy near the corner of John street.

In court this morning McCarthy pleaded guilty to both charges and inasmuch as he is now on parole from the state farm at Bridgewater he was held under $300 bonds for his appearance Monday morning for sentence.

Drunken Offenders

Frank Lyons, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to two months in jail. James H. McHugh will spend the next 20 days in jail. James McCluskey and William J. Griffin were each fined $5.

There were two first offenders who were fined $2 each.

Several cases which have been before the court on numerous occasions were continued owing to the illness of the principals and the absence of witnesses.

JAPANESE VISITORS

Inspected Commercial and Educational Institutions in Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The important commercial and industrial establishments and educational institutions in Boston and its surrounding cities and towns were today thrown open to three score of the foremost business men of Japan who are making a tour of the United States. The commissioners, attended by about 20 delegates from the various chambers of commerce on the Pacific coast and a number of them accompanied by their wives, arrived by special train from Providence early this forenoon. They were met at the south station by a delegation from the Boston chamber of commerce which will entertain the visitors during the stay here and a tour of the main points of historical, industrial and commercial interest in this section of the state was immediately inaugurated.

As soon as the train pulled into the station the delegates were formed into three sections, according to the purpose of their investigation. The first and largest division which included about half the commission was taken in a special train to Quincy where the distinguished visitors were shown through the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. It was arranged to spend about two hours here and then go in automobiles to Harvard university.

The second section was met at the station by automobiles in which they were taken to the factory of the Waltham Watch Co., in Waltham, leaving after lunch for Harvard.

The five Japanese ladies who are accompanying their husbands in their tour of inspection comprised the third section. They were taken to the Hotel Tonnaine in this city and a little later in the forenoon left in automobiles for the home of Henry W. Longfellow in Cambridge where they were entertained by the poet's daughter.

In the afternoon the party visited Harvard and attended the football game at the stadium between Harvard and Brown.

BIG AUTO RACE

With Many Entries Was Held at Oakland, Cal., Today

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 23.—Seventeen automobiles started at intervals of a few minutes today over the 21 1/2 mile circuit in the Oakland-Porcola road races. Although the machines started almost simultaneously, they were entered in three distinct contests.

The first race over the seven laps of the course for an approximate distance of 150 miles was for cars of 231 to 450 inches piston displacement. The second class racers covered approximately 215 miles, making the circuit ten times.

These cars were of stock chassis type with a piston displacement from 451 to 600 inches. The third race, constituting the grand prize event of the day, was for racing cars and machines, having a piston displacement in excess of 600 inches. This race also was open to cars which qualified in the foregoing events. The distance was approximately 258 miles.

Among the well known drivers competing were Harris Hanshue, who broke a world's record with the Apperson "Jack Rabbit" at Santa Monica; Harry Michener at the wheel of a Lozier, with which he has won a number of notable races in the east; Charles Soules, who also has made a name for himself on road and track in the east at the wheel of the Stearns, and Jack Fleming, a local driver of the Pope-Hartford.

The names of the cars with their drivers and the order in which they started follow:

- 1—Maxwell, C. O. King, Sunset, H. Hall; Auto-car, Walter Morris.
- 2—Pope-Hartford, Fleming.
- 3—Pope-Hartford, George Potter.
- 4—Chalmers-Detroit, H. Warren.
- 5—Lexington, G. C. Murray.
- 6—Buick, F. Murray.
- 7—Buick, C. Christenson.
- 8—Knorr, F. Free.
- 9—Lozier, Michener.
- 10—Apperson, Harris Hanshue.
- 11—Stearns, D. Bonney.
- 12—Stearns, Charles Soules.
- 13—Stevens-Duryea, Clifford Ontank.
- 14—Rochette-Schnieder, Planchon.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Based on "Bill of Rights," Says Mrs. Pankhurst

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The methods which inspired the militant suffragettes in their efforts to obtain "votes for women" in England were laid before Boston sympathizers by Mrs. Emmeline Gould Pankhurst in her opening American campaign speech at Tremont temple last night.

Before an audience of more than 2000, Mrs. Pankhurst described the various contests against the government authorities in England and held her audience for nearly two hours as she noted the prominent salient points in the "civil war" which she said was being carried on at this time in her own country.

She pleaded the cause of women from both the standpoint of a wife and mother, and with energetic arguments claimed that woman's suffrage was based upon the "bill of rights" and that women as well as men always had the right of petition.

She described the recent hunger strike as the most terrible weapon which had been used in the contest and in answer to questions which were freely hurled at her at the conclusion of the meeting went into some of the methods which had been pursued by the authorities of England in attempting to combat that particular phase of the movement.

Mrs. Pankhurst said that the suffragettes were in politics as an appeal as well as a shield for women, and predicted that it would prove a better model for men. In laying her course before her Boston audience, Mrs. Pankhurst was obliged to describe the social and political phases of British life, and in that part of her address her appeal was in the nature of philanthropy.

She said that legislation was necessary for the education of children and in that legislation women should have an equal voice with men. The only question which was asked of public speakers in England was, "Why do you not give women a chance to vote on?"

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Ambassador Jusserand of France, who arrived today on the steamer LaProvence to resume his official duties at Washington, is confident that the difficulties which have arisen in France over the new American tariff will be satisfactorily settled.

"The attitude of the French government is defensive," said M. Jusserand. "France is ready to fight, but I do not think that the matter will ever come to a state where she will fight. Don't misunderstand me, I do not mean for misunderstanding me, I do not mean for trouble. It is but natural that agitation over the tariff should arise. France is in first class shape commercially to retaliate in the matter of any tariff measure. And when I use the term 'fight' I'm simply using another term for retaliation. Once more let me add, however, that I don't think retaliation will ever be necessary. I feel confident that both countries will come to an agreement."

SEN. GALLINGER'S SON DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—William H. Gallinger, 39 years old, a son of United States Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, died of heart failure last night at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Adelaide E. Johnston. According to Dr. David W. Torrey, who reported the case to the coroner, Mr. Gallinger rose from the dinner table, staggered, and recoiled to his bedroom, where he died before help could be summoned.

Mr. Gallinger and his father, whose private secretary he had been for many years, returned from Europe last Monday, after a two months' trip of inspection with the waterways commission, of which the senator was a member. The senator left New York for Concord, N. H., his home, yesterday. He is expected here to take charge of the body today.

FOOTBALL GAME MANY VICTIMS

Lowell High vs. Boston English High

The Lowell High school football eleven and the team representing the Boston English High school met on the gridiron at Spaulding park this forenoon. The attendance was unusually large, owing in a large measure to the excellent weather as well as the fact that the English High is considered one of the fastest scholastic teams in the state.

JAMES ROONEY,
Captain of Football Team.

These two teams have met year after year, and on every occasion the Boston team has defeated Lowell by a narrow margin. This year the team representing the local school is much faster than it has been in previous years and this fact had a great deal to do with the big attendance.

Last Saturday the Lowell team played a draw with the Boston Latin team which leads the other teams in the Greater Boston league and the good showing of the local eleven has certainly enthused the followers of football in Lowell.

MARIST BROTHERS

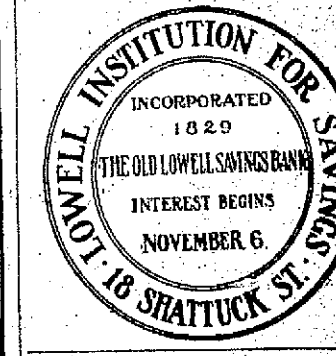

ENJOYED RIDE TO MANCHESTER TODAY

Twenty-one brothers of the Marist order, who teach at St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street, enjoyed an automobile ride to Manchester this morning, the invitation having been extended by Messrs. J. B. Pelnauld, Edward Desmarais, A. Delisle, Joseph Murli, Albert Blinzon, Stephano Rochette and A. Archambault, who tendered their machines.

The party left the home of the brothers in Moody street at 8 o'clock this morning, and upon arriving in Manchester went to the College des Maris in Wayne street, where dinner was enjoyed. The return trip was made during the early part of the afternoon.

Of Terrific Typhoon at Haitian Straits

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Japanese liner Hippon Maru, which arrived here yesterday, reported that before leaving Hong Kong the British steamer Kwang arrived there and told of having passed many human bodies at the entrance of Haitian straits. The bodies were lashed to spars and were in an advanced stage of decomposition. On one waterlogged sampan thirty bodies were counted.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—President Taft will face the most distinguished gathering of his entire 13,000 mile trip when he addresses the lakes to the Gulf deep waterways convention at New Orleans on Oct. 30. The governors of two-thirds of the states in the Union will be present as well as a large number of senators and representatives from the states of the middle west. So intense is the interest of all public men as well as the agricultural, mining, manufacturing and stock raising element of the territory between the Western Reserve and the Rocky mountains in the ship canal project that all these lines of business will be actively represented at the meeting. The middle west intends to strike the hardest blow of its history for commercial supremacy on this occasion. New Orleans has made such preparations to entertain its distinguished guests as no southern city ever did before. The New Orleans Progressive union, of which Philip Werlein is president, will be chief host of the visitors, and all the clubs and business organizations of the city, famous for its lavish hospitality, will vie with one another in showing the president the time of his life during his stay.

SEN. McGARRREN DEAD

Famous Democratic Leader of Brooklyn Passed Away

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Patrick J. McGarrren, state senator and democratic leader of Brooklyn, died at St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn at 1:15 o'clock this morning, never having completely rallied from the effects of an operation for appendicitis which was performed on October 13. Patrick Henry McGarrren, by trade a cooper, by profession a lawyer, and by vocation a politician, was one of the most picturesque figures in the political history of Greater New York. No leader was ever more roundly condemned, yet at the close of sixty-one years of his life he probably was the most strongly entrenched leader in New York state and even wielded some influence in national politics.

Born in East Cambridge, Mass., he came to Brooklyn when he was eight years old. He was apprenticed to a cooper when sixteen, but having mastered his trade, he took up the law and from the law went into politics. In 1882 he was sent to the state legislature and has since served almost continuously there. Senator McGarrren first became recognized as a coming leader in the days when David B. Hill was at the height of his power. By 1893 he had become so well recognized that the democratic state committee made him head of the executive committee. Five years later he wrested the leadership of Brooklyn from Hugh McLaughlin, who had held it for 10 years. Since that time the senator had won all political honors through his political death was predicted each year. At the democratic national convention which nominated Alton B. Parker the task of inducing southern leaders to remain in line, following the arrival of the famous "Gold" telegram, fell on McGarrren's shoulders.

McGarren's opposition to the candidacy of Mr. Roosevelt for governor led to charges of treason, and his delegates were excluded from the party convention, which last year named delegates to the Denver national convention. Nevertheless he appeared there, with delegates who were again rejected. His downfall was then confidently predicted, but only last month he recovered what he regarded as final vindication when he won thirteen of the twenty-three districts of his borough. Physically Sen. McGarrren was very tall and built. In manner he was courteous and generous of attention, but miserably of speech. The qualities which in the opinion of his friends contributed most to his success in politics were his honesty, tenacity of purpose, personal fidelity, perfect self-control and patience. He was sometimes called a hard man and devoid of sentiment. "I had a romance once," he said to a close friend. "When I was a young man I fell in love with a girl and we were married. We lived very happily. We had five children. When I was thirty-one I had buried my wife and five children."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men was held last night. There was a good sized attendance and considerable business of importance was transacted during the evening. A communication was received from the great council of the United States, stating that the order has reached 500,000 members.

Interesting remarks on tribal affairs were made by L. E. Steele, L. T. Moody, F. Riney and the sachem. At the close of the tribal meeting, the Left of Haymakers held its monthly meeting. Chief Haymaker James Kershaw on the haystack. The companions were greatly interested in the business that came up for action. Six applications were received, and the degree staff performed the ceremony of initiation on eight candidates in an impressive manner. Plans for L. E. Steele and State Deputy J. L. Hincley spoke on degree work as performed by lefts throughout the state. The scribe, Arthur W. Garland, stated the left was in a good condition financially and in point of membership.

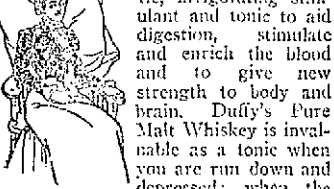

Remarks were made by Companions F. M. Merrill, H. Mitchell, J. Taylor and others on the welfare of the left.

NEW BEAMING PLANT

Planned by American Hide and Leather Co. for Perry St.

Mr. C. P. Hall of Boston, vice-president of the American Hide and Leather company, met with the board of health yesterday afternoon and made application for a permit to build a new and modern beaming plant that will cost $148,000 at the upper end of Perry street.

Mr. Hall brought with him plans of the proposed new building and his expert on sanitation, Charles H. Stehling of Milwaukee set forth at considerable length the most modern facilities for carrying off offensive odors.

Mr. Hall admitted that the Howe street plant was a bad one, but he consoled the members of the board with the statement that Woburn has the worst beaming plants he has ever encountered.

Mr. Hall said: "We agree that we can't do business without the consent of the board of health. We will not go contrary to the wishes of the board. We recognize that health conditions all over the country demand changes. As to the Lowell plant, I don't say that we will move away—not at all. It's a plain business proposition. We want health, just as the board wants health, and we offer a building that will throw out no odors, and will not be offensive. We want to have a building that will cost $148,000."

A map submitted showed that the proposed building would be at the southerly end of Perry street on land owned by the American Hide and Leather Co., off the street between 200 and 201 yards.

Mr. Hall disclaimed any connection with Carl Phil, who appeared at the last meeting of the board.

In this connection the following letters were exchanged:

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 15, 1909.
C. P. Hall, Esq., Vice President American Hide and Leather Co., 17 East Street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—The board of health understands that you are now prepared to submit plans and suggestions for the correction of the existing trouble in your beaming plant, and the board will be very glad to meet and confer with you at 5 o'clock p. m. on Friday, Oct. 22, 1909.

Yours truly,
F. A. Bates, Agent.

Boston, Oct. 18, 1909.
F. A. Bates, Esq., Agent Lowell Board of Health, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of Oct. 16 is received. I am not yet prepared to submit plans for the changes in the beaming plant. We are at work on the subject and hope to have definite plans within a short time. I am at a loss to know from what source the board has been informed that the plans were already completed.

I assume that under the circumstances the board will not care to have the conference suggested for next Friday or until I am in a position to lay before them definite plans.

Yours truly,
C. P. Hall.

C. P. Hall, Esq., Vice President American Hide and Leather Co., 17 East Street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 18th received this day. It is somewhat of a surprise to us, as Mr. Phil, representing the Lowell Electric Light Co., and the board of trade of Lowell, appeared before this board at our meeting last Friday and stated that he came here as a result of a conference which he had recently had with you (Mr. Hall). At this time, so he stated, you had read him correspondence from a Milwaukee concern and others, etc. He further stated that the representative of this concern was to be with you early this week, and that you desired to bring said representative here with you. As we did not have another regular meeting until the 23rd, we set a special date, the 22nd, as we supposed, to accommodate your people.

We regret that we have misunderstood you, and make this explanation that you will fully understand the reason of our letter of the 18th. We trust that you will inform this board of your intentions at your earliest convenience.

Yours truly,
F. A. Bates, Agent.

Boston, Oct. 20, 1909.
F. A. Bates, Esq., Agent Board of Health, Lowell, Mass.

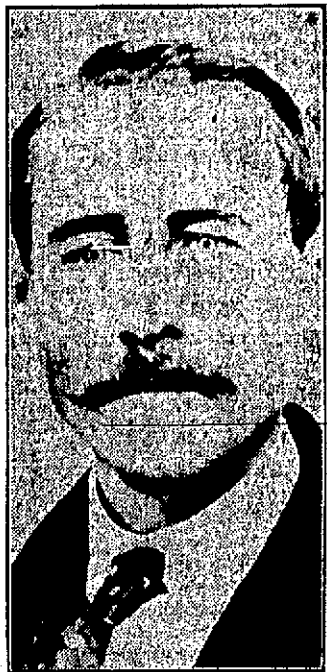

Dear Sir:—Your letter of Oct. 19th received. I regret that there should have been any misunderstanding on the part either of the board or of Mr. Phil as to the extent to which our preparations for the new beaming house have gone. If the board is going to meet on next Friday afternoon anyway, I should like very much to have a conference with it, even at this incomplete stage. If they are not going to meet, I dislike to have them do so solely on my account.

I hope that our plans will reach final shape before long.

Yours truly,
C. P. Hall.

A. O. H. PARADE

Will Surely Be Held in Lowell

There is little doubt now that the next state convention and parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held in this city next August. It is expected that there will be 15,000 men in line.

The Hibernian has the following to say relative to the matter:

The Central council, representing all the divisions of Lowell, unanimously voted to ask the state board for the next state convention. There is no doubt but what its request will be granted. In talking with State President Rogers he stated that it was almost certain that the convention would be held in the Spindle City. It is 20 years since Lowell has had the state convention and there is not a city in the state as well equipped for a successful gathering as Lowell. At this convention will be held a state parade which will bring thousands of visitors to the convention. It is also expected that a monster field day will take the place of the usual banquet. This will give the various Gaelic teams throughout the state a chance to compete for honors, and will afford an opportunity of introducing Gaelic sports and pastimes. The military branches of the order will appear in the parade. We know the personnel of the membership of the A. O. H. of Lowell and we predict the greatest gathering of Hibernians ever held within the Old Bay state when the convention takes place in Lowell.

RAILROAD COMPANIES

Should be Kept Within Bounds of the Law

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct. 23.—Announcing himself as an enthusiastic advocate of deep waterways, when such projects can be shown to be practicable and necessary, and declaring that the piecemeal "provision by jerks" policy of congress in the past with reference to such improvements should be replaced with a definite general plan for opening up the great avenues of commerce, President Taft aroused the delegates to the convention of the interstate inland waterways league yesterday, at an enthusiastic demonstration of approval.

Continuing, the president said that in addition to extending commerce, deep inland waterways would serve as the best means to control railroad rates. In the meantime he urged the amendment of the interstate commerce laws to make their provisions more effective.

Mr. Taft added that he did not favor radical legislation; that his purpose merely was to keep railroad companies within the bounds of the law and down to reasonable rates.

He said the railroads should be encouraged. In this connection, he referred to the fact that in some places there is a disposition to do injustice to the railroads and to drive the corporations to a system of economy which prevents the development of the country through which they pass.

The president urged a "square deal" for the railroads that they might not be deprived of reasonable profits through popular prejudice. The president declared that the holding and sporadic system of river and harbor improvements in the past was the work of the committee in congress who had responded to clamor from home and to party considerations. The time has come, he declared, for a change in this system. A nine-foot intercoastal canal was one of the projects to which the president referred as part of a definite system of waterways improvement. President Taft arrived in Corpus Christi on the revenue cutter Winona from his brother's ranch. After a short automobile ride through the prettily decorated city, he was taken to a grand stand at the foot of a natural terrace where the delegates to the waterways convention and the general public were gathered. Several children were much in evidence.

The president made an immediate hit with his audience by asking that three tiers of seats immediately in front of him be vacated by the early comers to make way for a hundred or more veterans of the Confederate and Union armies, who had been assigned to a more remote section of the enclosure. The day was exceedingly warm.

When he had finished his speech he

motored to the Corpus Christi Golf and Country club and dedicated the new links by driving a ball from the first tee. The club presented him with a bag of nine splendid golf clubs as a souvenir of the occasion. The president and several members of his party dined at the home of Mrs. H. M. King, whose ranch comprises 1,500,000 acres.

The president returned to Gregory yesterday afternoon and left there at 5:20 o'clock last night for Houston and Dallas. He made a brief speech at Beeville last night standing on the rear of his car.

In his address at Corpus Christi, the president said:

"The subject of the conservation of our national resources received its first impulse from that crusader and reformer, Theodore Roosevelt. He pointed out how wasteful we had been of those blessings which God had showered upon the country and yet which had limitations which if we did not respect would ultimately bring us to a famine in relation to many of them."

"The program of conservation is a long one. It is one in regard to which we have taken some important steps. Of the government forests we have put about seventy per cent. in forest reservations under control, so that we shall not suffer from forest fires or denudation by private greed."

"We have not taken all the steps that ought to be taken, but they doubtless will follow the adoption of the model plan of the general government by the state governments."

"We have not yet adopted the laws, but I hope to recommend them to congress, by which the government shall retain some control over the use of coal lands (still owned by the government and still to be put under private use) by which the water power sites shall be segregated from other parts of the public domain and parted with only under such conditions as shall enable the government to procure a proper revenue therefrom and to regulate the rates of power charged by those who shall take possession of those sites and transform the water power into electricity."

"The most important topic of this convention, because it is the immediate subject of consideration, is the preservation of our waterways. It has long attracted the attention of the government; and while we do not permit our people to criticize us, when we get together in a convention and talk to each other confidentially, we must recognize that even we have made mistakes at times."

"We have invested $600,000,000 in our waterways and we have done some excellent work, when the work was specified in helping to make our river more navigable; but the trouble with the work has been that it has been done largely by piecemeal. It has not been done by a theory or a great project with reference to the establishment of a great avenue of transportation."

"The time has arrived for changing

STARS OF THE MINNESOTA AND CHICAGO ELEVENS, READY TO CLASH

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—What promises to be one of the hardest fought gridiron contests ever played in the west is to take place in Minneapolis Oct. 30, when the football elevens representing the Chicago and Minnesota universities clash for supremacy. Minnesota is the team that Coach Stagg has feared all season and the only one that may prevent the Maroons from capturing the championship. Notwithstanding the costly defeat that the Gophers paid to victory at Omaha recently in defeating the husky Nebraska team, when Johnston, one of the greatest dodging and ground gaining back field men Coach Williams ever had in his football squad, suffered a broken leg, Minnesota still looms big on the gridiron horizon that Coach

Stagg continually is scanning. Minnesota was "under a pull," in all probability, against Nebraska. The tackling of the northerners has been low and fierce all season. The "King Cole" plays of the Cornhuskers invariably were broken up before they got well started. Captain McGovern is not only a great kicker, but a rare little general in directing plays, a worthy rival of Captain Pat Page. The interference plans of the Gophers for their runners have gained much praise for the men and coaches. The probable makeup of the teams is as follows: Chicago—Right end, Sunderland; right tackle, Kelley; right guard, Ehrhorn; center, Badenoch; left guard, Rademacher; left tackle, Hoffman; left end, Kasulker; quarterback, Page (captain);

our policy in that regard. Sometimes that body of men who have had charge of our waterways, the army engineers, have come under criticism because of the policy pursued by the government. That is most unjust. That policy has been determined by the commerce committee of the senate and the river and harbor committee of the house, and it usually has been determined by the clamor from home for appropriations and by party desire not to subject the party in power to too great criticism for wasteful extravagance.

"Now, as long as that limitations continue, as long as that state of affairs is allowed to exist, we may be sure of having a piecemeal and a piecemeal improvement in our waterways. Every man who looks at it from a business standpoint, and a business standpoint is a patriotic standpoint, knows that what ought to be done is for us to agree on the great projects surveyed; to have the experts determine whether the proposed improvement is practical; to have it determined by congress that it will work the improvement hoped for; and then, having made up our minds to do it, to issue the bonds to pay for the construction."

"I do not think there is any distinction between the improvement of the Ohio river from Pittsburgh to the mouth of the Mississippi river, from the headwaters of that stream to New Orleans; from the head of navigation in the Mississippi river to its mouth and the inland waters of the west, than there is in the construction of the Panama canal."

"Now I recognize the danger there is in the proposal that you issue bonds for such enterprises. In other words, that when you issue bonds you are just like—was it not Brother Micawber, who, when he had just written a note and turned it over, thanked God that the debt had been paid? There is a disposition when you pay for an enterprise by bonds not to realize that some day those bonds have got to be paid and that is not payment."

"Nevertheless, I have confidence in the conservatism of the American people and congress that they will not adopt every enterprise haphazard and go into business on the theory that it does not cost anything because we can issue bonds to pay for it, but I believe that they will go to work with conservatism, that they will calculate the question whether now is the time to do the work or whether the country ought to develop more before making such an expenditure."

There are now blue feet of water from Cairo to New Orleans and if you get your coal and all these other articles of heavy merchandise that must travel by water, if they are to come to you at all, ultimately you have to count on getting them all the way by water, and that will come through a nine foot intercoastal canal."

But before you can induce congress to vote the money for the canal or the bonds, you have to show that you have grown to a point where the trade will justify the expenditure."

The president referred to the harbor of Galveston as a type of waterway improvement justified by a trade that must have an outlet. Then he continued:

"There is not the slightest doubt that the best means of controlling railroad rates is water communication; but that is not the only means, and we ought to see to it that our interstate commerce law is made to accomplish the purpose declared in it by adding to its provisions so as to make it effective."

"I am not in favor of drastic legislation against railroads except such as is necessary to keep them within the law and to keep them within reasonable rates. The truth is we want to encourage our railroads."

The president sketched the entrance of a railroad into a town, and added: "Then you proceed to legislate and you will do injustice to that railroad; but after awhile, after you have done injustice to the point where you don't get the proper accommodations and where you drive them into a system of economy that does not build up your country, you finally begin to realize that the only good policy, as well as the only honest policy, is a square deal to the railroads so as to give them the rate they ought to have and not allow popular prejudice to deprive them of reasonable profit for their investment, including the risk that they took when they went into the business."

LIBERAL LEADER

To be New Spanish Premier

MADRID, Oct. 23.—The ousting of the Maura cabinet and the appointment of a corps of liberal advisers, headed by Senor Moret, by King Alfonso is applauded not only in Spain, but all over Europe as well. Moret, who was premier once before, is the foremost liberal leader of the country. He also is the bitterest political foe of Maura, whom he succeeded. The young king is credited with the most popular move of his reign in dissolving the conservative cabinet.

—Courier-Citizen, Oct. 20.

The life of mortal man seems to be, to live on to regret and regretting. How it is with woman, no man knows. Greeley lived to regret what he said of Nansen—see Nansen's "Farthest North," for Nansen took pains to have what Greeley said, live.

Thus it is that we are extremely careful concerning what we say in regard to OUR COKE. True, we have said much. But we have always held ourselves ready to submit our proofs to the highest scientific authority.

HE RECEIVED $500

For Shortening the Weight on a Consignment

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—William N. Hutchinson, an assistant weigher of the United States customs house, testified yesterday at the trial of Antonio and Phillip Musica, charged with defrauding the government on importations of cheese that he received on one occasion about $600 from Phillip Musica for shortening the weight on a consignment.

"I was particularly careful to see that I got all that was coming to me," the witness said.

On cross examination Hutchinson explained that he had been promised immunity to tell the truth and told he would be kept in the employ of the government though not in his present position.

"Did you go to others to get money under such circumstances?" he was asked.

"Well, I did go to another man," the witness admitted. "If you show me the books I worked on I will show you where they were right and when they were not."

FROM BELFAST SERIOUS CHARGE

Police Supt. Welch Receives Communication Against Management of City Farm

Every day something new in the line of inquiring for missing people or those who have not been seen for years, turns up at the police station, and today was no exception to the rule, as Superintendent Welch received the following communication yesterday afternoon:

Belfast, Ireland, Oct. 1st, '09.
My Dear Sir:
If you could give me any information as regards the whereabouts of Miss Jane McAlesse, who is said to live in your city, or if you could, and would tell her to communicate with me she certainly would learn something of great benefit to herself. She left Ireland about 40 years ago, and she was a very dear friend of mine, and I have something for her welfare. I remain,

Respectfully yours,
Miss Kate Hunter,
8 Shannon Street, Park Road, Belfast, Ireland.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary
The 25th anniversary of the Day Nursery association will be observed next Thursday. Already many gifts have been sent to the association and by the way that they are coming in there is no doubt, but that the event will be a memorable one.

Charity Commissioner Harry W. J. Howe has been provided with material for another investigation at the city farm which if the alleged facts are proven to be true should mean but one result, a prompt change of administration.

Mrs. Bella Murray, a poor but reputable woman residing at 8 Mill street, states that her five months old baby died recently at the city farm and was buried in the Edson cemetery without her knowledge or consent, the unfortunate mother not learning of her baby's death until several days after the burial.

Supt. Mayberry declares that some woman who was assumed to be the mother was notified of the baby's death over the telephone, but he admits that the alleged notification was by an employee and he has no personal knowledge of the notification.

The case, if true, involves the most gruesome carelessness and negligence on the part of the authorities.

Mrs. Murray is a woman, who though the mother of a nursing baby, was forced by circumstances to go to work daily in the Carpet mills. When the baby took ill some weeks ago the poor woman found that she could not nurse the child properly and continue at her work and she took the little one to the nursery at the farm, where it was admitted. She made frequent visits to the nursery during her leisure time and instructed the authorities to notify her over her in the Carpet mill if the child grew worse or died.

According to the records at the city farm, the baby died Oct. 4 at 5:30, and on the following Wednesday was buried in the Edson cemetery at the city's expense. Mrs. Murray claims that she did not know that her child was dead until Saturday afternoon, Oct. 9th, when she went to the farm, taking with her some clothing for the little one, when she was informed by the nurse that her baby was dead and buried.

Supt. Mayberry states that on the evening of the day that the child died Bartholomew Sheehan, a nurse, received a telephone call inquiring for the child, the voice saying, according to Sheehan, that she was Paul Murray's mother. Mr. Sheehan, according to Supt. Mayberry, informed the party at the other end of the line that the child was dead. It is claimed that the party at the other end of the line asked if she could see the body before it was buried.

Mrs. Murray declares that she never called up the city farm on the night in question and neighbors state she did not leave her tenement from the time she returned from her work on that evening.

Mrs. Murray visited the charity board office last, desiring to have the remains transferred to the Catholic cemetery. She then told her story to Charity Commissioner Howe, who is investigating the matter.

She is emphatic in the statement that she was not notified and did not telephone to the farm while Supt. Mayberry refers to Mr. Sheehan the nurse, in reply.

REV. FR. CAMPEAU PRESIDENT TAFT

Reported Very Ill in Montreal Was Given Great Welcome at Houston

Bad indeed was the congregation at St. Joseph's church last evening, when the Rev. Fr. Campeau, after the celebration of the mass, the Rev. Fr. Campeau asked those present to pray for the speedy recovery of the Rev. Fr. Campeau, who is reported critically ill at the Hotel Dieu, Montreal, Canada. The Rev. Fr. Campeau has been ill for three weeks but it is hoped that his condition will soon change for the better.

MATHEW MOTION PICTURES

Sunday afternoon and evening a grand concert will be given in the picture-house of the Mathew Motion Picture Institute in Putnam street. BLOOD PURIFIER Cured His Rheumatism

Officer Buchanan Writes:—

Lowell, Mass., July 1907. Dear Sir—I had a severe case of sciatic rheumatism. I suffered for 10 years without receiving any permanent relief until I tried VAR-NE-SIS BLOOD PURIFIER. I had tried various kinds of so-called rheumatic cures, including electric treatments, etc., but nothing helped me for any length of time. I was often obliged to leave my duties on the police force, where I have served for 10 years, and remain at home for weeks and weeks at a time, being unable to walk on account of the rheumatism in my right ankle and knee.

VAR-NE-SIS Blood Purifier not only has cured me of this severe rheumatic trouble, but has also cured a kidney trouble which was very annoying. I am very grateful and happy to be back on duty and to again feel well and active. I enclose my picture and sincerely hope this letter will be of benefit to other sufferers.

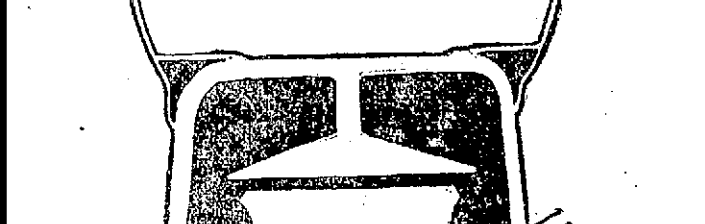

Sincerely yours, JOHN BUCHANAN, 106 Beech St., Lowell, Mass.

Announces his candidacy for the Democratic Nomination FOR Purchasing Agent

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor
SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.
Member of the Associated Press
THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was

15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

SWEEEPING THE STREETS.

Several parties have complained that during the fine weather we have had since the middle of summer, our public streets have been swept, where swept at all, during the day instead of at night. It is a common thing even on Sunday mornings to see street laborers go around picking up papers and other rubbish, all of which should have been taken up by the street sweepers the night before, if things were done as they should be. We recognize the fact that the street department has a big job on its hands in the paving of Merrimack square, but that does not require the entire force of men or horses and this matter of sweeping the streets at night so as to gather up the dust and rubbish that collects during the day should not be neglected.

THE ARKWRIGHT CONSPIRACY.

It ill becomes the republican party to be boasting of prosperity while the textile factories of the country are talking about curtailment. The proposed curtailment seems to be a combination in restraint of trade and should be investigated with a view to action under the anti-trust law. The order to curtail goes out to mills that have to work nights to supply the demand for their goods.

It is true that the extent of the curtailment proposed is not very great, but small as it is, it is unnecessary. It will probably be utilized as part of the vacation next summer and the most that it will amount to in the meantime will be two hours a week. That is not likely to be started before next year.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

Eugene N. Foss is adding zest to the state campaign. He is showing up the iniquities of the present tariff law, the overpowering force of the Lodge political machine, the inconsistencies of Governor Draper and the malign influence of the legislative lobby. He invites ex-Governor Gould to join the democratic party in order to escape being run over by the Lodge steam roller.

Verily, Mr. Foss is making things very uncomfortable for the republican leaders, while Mr. Vahley, the democratic candidate, is hammering away at the income tax issue, republican extravagance and the need of a change that will remove some of the political barnacles that have fastened themselves to the body politic.

CHARTER REFORM.

The discussion on charter reform held at the Highland Congregational church on Wednesday evening was highly interesting and instructive. The Haverhill speakers proved very forcibly that the city is much better off and is getting far better results for the money expended than it ever did under the old charter. The gentlemen who spoke of conditions in Haverhill were free to admit that there never was anything in the nature of open graft or dishonesty in the city government, but there seemed to be a lack of individual supervision and responsibility that permitted extravagance and the unnecessary or ill advised outlay of money. This is where the saving has been effected.

It was very evident from the statements made by the Haverhill gentlemen that everybody in that city is well pleased with the change and that the business of the government is transacted in a more satisfactory manner with fewer officials, smaller outlay and less red tape than formerly. One thing emphasized in the discussion applied with peculiar fitness to Lowell. It was the statement that any city wanting a charter from the legislature must get its people united upon some definite form and demand its enactment. The legislature hesitates to grant a charter to any city while the people are not largely of one mind as to what they want. If the city of Lowell wants a charter, it will have to unite all the discordant elements in favor of some particular form of charter. That is the main object now to be overcome by this city. It is necessary to get a charter that will be acceptable alike to republicans and democrats, to labor men and capitalists, rich and poor alike. The organization that sets out to draft a charter, should have the co-operation of every society or public body interested, so that a consensus of opinion may be secured to support a demand upon the legislature for the enactment of the measure. Of course no such body would ask the enactment of a charter without the referendum, as to do so would be useless for the legislature would never grant such a request.

THE INCOME TAX ISSUE.

The income tax is the most important issue now before the people. It is proposed to have an amendment of our federal constitution providing for the levying of such a tax. The democratic party passed a law during the Cleveland administration authorizing the imposition of an income tax, but the supreme court overruled it.

The aim is to impose a tax on income, so that those who have the means to pay may be obliged to pay their fair share of the taxes. Such a tax would help to prevent the accumulation of vast fortunes, such as those of Carnegie or Rockefeller, and thus in time to overcome one of the great evils of our day, to wit, the accumulation of wealth in the hands of the few to the extent that a few money kings can practically defy the power of the government. Moreover, the income tax would supply revenue for the government, so that it would not be necessary to raise so much by means of a tariff on imports.

The legislative candidates who do not favor the income tax should not be elected. They are opposed to a measure that would particularly benefit the masses, and that would be of great advantage to the country in emergencies when any extraordinary expenditure would be necessary.

SPONDER'S MISTRESS.

Let Cowley soft in amorous verse,
The ravings of his love rehearse,
With passion most unruly
Roast how he woo'd sweet Annet,
The sobbing Jane, the brightly Bet,
Tidily fair, and smart, brunette,
In sweet succession truly.

But hie ye lovers, and you'll swear,
I rovd with him beyond compare,
And was far more unlucky,
For never yet in Yankee coast
Were found such girls, who so could Boast.

An honest lover's heart to roast,
From Casco to Kentucky.
When first the girls nicknam'd me
beau,
And I was all for dress and show,
I set me out a courtly beau,
A romping Miss, with headless art,
First caught, then almost broke my heart.

Miss Conduet nam'd, we soon did part,
I did not like such sporting.
The next coquet who raised a flame,
Was far more grave and somewhat lame,
She in my heart did rankle,
She conquer'd with a sudden glance,
The spiteful maid was called Miss Chance;

I took the gypsy out to dance;
She almost broke my ankle.
A thoughtless girl, just in her teens,
Was the next fair, whom Love it seems
Had made me prize most highly,
I thought to court a lovely mate,
But, how it made my heart to ache,
It was that jade, the vile Miss Take;
In troth, Love did it stily.

And last, Miss Fortune, whimpering,
Came,
Cur'd me of Love's tormenting flame,
And all my beau pretenses,
In widow's weeds, the prude appears;
See now, she drowns me with her tears.
With bonny fist, now slaps my ears,
And brings me to my senses.

A WRONG NOTION

Eczema Not a Blood Disease

Eczema, the most common of all skin disorders, is no longer considered a blood disease by the best physicians. Internal medicines and physics are practically useless in treating it. External remedies used heretofore have frequently been beneficial, but have permanent cure of eczema was long thought to be impossible. It was this deplorable condition that inspired the chemist who discovered the new remedy, Cadum. Since Cadum was introduced a short time ago, experience has shown that long treatments with it are unnecessary, two or three weeks being usually sufficient for an ordinary case of eczema. A single application will entirely subdue the itching, and will also accomplish wonderful results in ringworm, itch, acne, scabies, itching piles, chafing, boils, inflamed skin, and inflamed noses, pimples, blackheads, etc. Where the disease presents an unsightly appearance, the thin coating of Cadum almost conceals the sore. The gratifying results which have attended the use of Cadum in the treatment of eczema and other skin diseases warrant the belief that there never has before been introduced to the public such an efficient and perfect product as Cadum. It is free from all poisonous and dangerous mixtures. Every ingredient for which a standard of purity is set by the Pharmacopoeia, complies with the standard, so as to secure the great efficacy which this new remedy possesses. All druggists supply Cadum at 10c and 25c per box.

JUSTICE PECKHAM'S ILLNESS HAS ALARMED WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The illness of Justice Rufus W. Peckham at Altamont, N. Y., is being closely watched by many persons in public and private life here. Neither Justice Peckham nor Justice Moody, who is now ill in Boston, has appeared in Washington since the convening of the fall term of court, though the latest reports from Justice Moody are favorable. Of course the work of the court goes on without appreciable delay, though the cases assigned to the absentees for the writing of decisions will probably be held up for some time. What these cases are is not known, as the distribution of decisions among the separate justices is not given out. Five justices of the supreme court constitute a quorum, and seven out of nine have been in regular attendance since the convening of the term.

It seems that the title of the new play that Henri Bernstein has practically been commissioned to write for the Comedie Francaise and the first virtual commission to write a play ever issued by the directors of the Comedie is to be called "Après M. Le Deluge" (After Mr. Deluge), which will probably translate itself into the English "After Me." Charles Frohman owns the English speaking rights of the play, but it is a curious fact that the contracts existing between the Comedie Francaise and the authors who write for its stage forbid the authors from even showing the manuscript of their play before it has been acted on the stage of the Comedie.

There is a small lake on the property and several mineral springs of repute for healing rheumatism and gout. The women purpose to establish a resort similar to the German Bad, only no gambling will be allowed. When Mrs. Crawford was asked why she and her colleagues were going so far even to invest their money she replied: "It is because there is no protection in England for the financial enterprises of women. We go to Australia where women stand on the same footing with men, have the same protection and the same advantages." ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Anything that is clean and amusing, new and instructive, is harmless to any mind, young or old, and hence there is nothing harmful in the vaudeville and moving picture show that is daily presented at the Academy of Music, the management of which aims to make this theatre the ideal picture theatre of Lowell, and especially caters to ladies and children. While the primary object of the management is to amuse nevertheless there is much of an instructive nature in the program. Today is continuous performance day and the show starts at 2 and will run continuously with no waits or delays until 10:30 tonight. Lydia Dreams & Co. in a novel ventriloquist act, and Carl Verdo in novelty musical instruments have scored heavily this week. The feature, biograph picture "His Last Love," tells a beautiful story, and is well acted.

THEATRE VOYONS

Thousands of the patrons of motion picture theatres care more for western pictures with their rough riding, their clean comedy and thrilling action than they do for the other classes of dramatic features. These will have their fill of western realism Monday when Theatre Voyons will offer "The Cowboy Millionaire." While many of the scenes of this picture take place in the east, the principals are all westerners and the whole picture has the western dash and go to it. The one exciting scene is at a round up where the cowboys perform more thrilling stunts than have ever been seen before. In fact one of the men gets away with a stunt that has been accomplished but three times with safety. Another time a bucking broncho turns a complete somersault in its efforts to unseat the daring rider. This picture is destined to be the most successful of its kind ever shown.

STAR THEATRE

A great western picture, "The Maid of the Mountains," and the funniest moving picture ever produced, "The Runaway Horse," are features of today's show at the Star theatre. Tonight the first performance will start at 6:30 o'clock in order that each and every patron will be enabled to procure a seat. A big vaudeville act will be Monday's feature. Pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. A new vaudeville bill is given every Thursday.

NIGHT EDITION

TELLS SAD STORY

Mrs. Murray Criticizes Officials at City Farm

The case of Mrs. Bella Murray, whose baby was buried in the City hospital on October 6th without her knowledge, has caused much discussion throughout the city and popular opinion favors a rigid investigation of the present administration at the city farm.

Mrs. Murray, accompanied by Charity Commissioner Howe, visited the mayor at his office yesterday and told her story, and the mayor, it is said, was indignant over what he heard and threatened an investigation. But then he is only the mayor and not the chairman of the charity board.

Mrs. Bella Murray is a frail young woman barely out of her teens, employed at the Carpet mill and she told an apparently straightforward story today to a reporter of The Sun.

A week prior to the birth of her baby, being out of work and without funds, she went to the farm at the suggestion of Agent Richardson of the Humane society, where she remained in three days, owing she claims, to conditions there. She was put to work sweeping and waiting on the old women, despite her condition, and her diet consisted of bread with what she calls "something" that looked like white grease spread over it and tea for breakfast and supper and at one dinner some corn beef that she claims wasn't fit to eat. Leaving the hospital on Saturday she returned home and a day or two later went to the Corporation hospital where her baby was born.

The little one was of a delicate nature and after it was a few months of age it became sickly. The mother at the time was working and hence could not give proper attention to the child and placed it at the nursery at the farm. She visited her baby every Saturday, having obtained work in the Carpet mill. Her first thought after getting something and a little money ahead was to engage a woman to care for the baby at home while she worked; and take him from the farm. When she left the baby at the institution she gave the authorities her name, address and the name of her over-seer at the Carpet mill, asking them to telephone her if the baby became worse. On Saturday, October 2, she visited the farm and found the baby in a critical condition and with a very sore mouth. She called the attention of the nurse to the little one's condition, she says, and was informed that Dr. Smith was to call on the following Monday. She claims she asked if she could call the following day to see the little one but was told that she could not call as no visitors were allowed on holidays, and Sunday was regarded as one. She then once more instructed the authorities to call on the over-seer at the Carpet mill if the baby grew worse. The baby died on the afternoon of October 4, Monday, and was buried in the Edison cemetery the following Wednesday. During the week Mrs. Murray busied herself making little things for the baby to wear and expected to get a woman to take care of him the following week. On Saturday, October 9th, following her weekly custom, she went to the farm taking with her the clothes she had made for the little one.

CITY DOCUMENTS

Cannot be Compiled as Required by Ordinance

Until Charity Board "Loosens Up" and Has its Annual Report Printed

The charity department in its effort to save money bids fair to make the city ridiculous in the eyes of the other cities of the commonwealth along with violating a provision of the ordinance relative to public documents. At a recent meeting of the board Commissioner Howe called attention to the fact that while the annual report of the department for 1908 has been in the safe in the office of the board for over four months it has not been printed and distributed as yet and hence the state statistician has nothing to show that Lowell has a pauper department or any paupers. Mr. Howe's suggestions, the waste basket, figuratively speaking, and the report still remains hidden away in the safe while the city clerk will not be able to complete his city documents until the report of the pauper department has been printed.

Sec. 5. All city documents (except the rules and regulations for the government of the police and fire departments) shall be printed in pamphlet form of the size of the annual report of the school board.

Sec. 6. All city documents shall be bound together in one volume under the direction of the city clerk and three or more copies placed in the city library; and one copy in the library of the Middlesex Mechanics association. One copy shall be sent to each city in the commonwealth; the library at Harvard college; the public library at Boston; the state library, the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and the Old Residents' Historical society of Lowell.

It would be rather shameful for Lowell to have to admit to these institutions that it could not furnish a complete set of city documents because the charity department in order to save about $100, had neglected to have its annual report printed as required by ordinance.

A NOVEL SCHEME BROWN ELEVEN

To Enforce Prohibition in Texas To Face the Harvard Team Today

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 23.—A novel way to enforce prohibition, made possible under the state liquor law, limiting the number of saloons in each precinct to one for every 600 inhabitants, has been found at Fairfield. This dry town went wet a few weeks ago and applications for permits were filed promptly with the comptroller for the maximum number of saloons allowed. The comptroller approved the applications. Subsequently there were more applications, all of which were without the limit of the law.

The disappointed applicants replied that no saloons had been opened and that the applications were taken out by prohibitionists, who resorted to that method to continue the town dry.

HOLY NAME

TO RECEIVE COMMUNION AT ST. PATRICK'S

The members of the Junior branch of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church will receive their monthly communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass tomorrow. The boys are requested to meet in the school hall on Suffolk street at 8 o'clock, at which place they will form into a body and march to the church.

The senior branch of this society of the church received its quarterly communion at the 7 o'clock mass last Sunday and had one of the largest turnouts in the history of the society. The committee which was elected at the last meeting of the society to make preparations for its annual banquet has reported plans for the event already formulated and will submit its report at the next meeting.

The entertainment committee of the society, through the assistance of Rev. Joseph Curtin, the spiritual director, has completed an extensive list of lectures which will be delivered before the members during the coming winter. The smoke takes and entertainments inaugurated at the time of the appointment of Fr. Curtin to the spiritual directorship will continue this winter, and promises to be greater successes than were its predecessors. Speakers of ability have been asked and have given the committee assurance of their presence on the evening wanted.

The flourishing membership of the society during the summer months has given the membership committee renewed vigor, and the members are working together to make this quarter the greatest in the line of membership.

FOOTBALL GAME

Lowell-High vs. Boston English High

The Lowell High school football eleven and the team representing the Boston English High school met on the gridiron at Spalding park this afternoon. The attendance was unusually large, owing in a large measure to the excellent weather as well as the fact that the English High is considered one of the fastest scholastic teams in the state.

These two teams have met year after year, and on every occasion the Boston team has defeated Lowell by a narrow margin. This year the team representing the local school is much faster than it has been in previous years and this fact had a great deal to do with the big attendance.

Last Saturday the Lowell team played a draw with the Boston Latin team which leads the other teams in the Greater Boston League and the good showing of the local eleven has certainly enthused the followers of football in Lowell.

MANAGER LAKE

Given Dinner by Lowell B. B. Association

Fred Lake, the successful manager of the great and mighty Red Sox returned to Lowell yesterday to renew old acquaintances in the scene of "his former triumphs" and yesterday afternoon he was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Lowell base ball association at the Pauline cottage in Tyngsboro.

He proved to be the same old Fred as of yore, nothing changed as the result of his fame and replete with good stories of base ball life.

The dinner which was one of Harry Doherty's best efforts, and all who have partaken of a dinner in a Doherty know what that means, was presided over by Manager James J. Gray of the Lowell baseball association while James J. Kennedy officiated as toastmaster and introduced the guest of honor in felicitous remarks. Mr. Lake was in happy vein and kept the party in rours over his funny yarns of his experiences during the season. Andrew Roach sang a song and responded to an encore. John J. Mahoney recited "Shamus O'Brien" and the Carse scene from "Richelieu." Bobby Carr made a few remarks on the experience of a baseball magnet and Jerry Murphy spoke on the pleasures of the road and gun. Mr. Lake will remain in Lowell for a few days and then return to Boston. He now resides in Somerville.

A NEW AIRSHIP

To be Built by Prof. Lowe

Low

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 23.—Replying to skeptics who were inclined to doubt his claim of having made the record balloon flight of 300 kilos in nine hours on April 20, 1861, Prof. Thaddeus S. Lowe has telegraphed to South Carolina a copy of the certificate given him by the citizens of Unionville, S. C., on the date of his flight in which he is given credit for the performance which still stands as a world's record for speed.

Although he celebrated his 77th birthday more than two months ago Prof. Lowe says he is planning to compete with the Wrights and other experts for aviation honors.

"I have the plans for a new airship," he said, "and expect to build it soon."

THE SOCIALISTS

WON ANOTHER SEAT IN THE REICHSTAG

COBURG, Germany, Oct. 23.—The socialists won another seat in the Reichstag at yesterday's election in this city, which had been regarded as a stronghold by the national Liberals. Gladstone, the socialist candidate, received 7000 votes against 6016 for Quacker, the national Liberals' nominee. The turnover is attributed to dissatisfaction over the new taxes.

POWER OF LORDS

To be Shorn by Parliament, Says T. P. O'Connor, M. P.

Lucid Explanation of the Burning Issues in England—Home Rule Probable in From Three to Five Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—That the signs on the political horizon of Great Britain, in view of the acute situation precipitated by the contest over the nation's annual budget, promise home rule for Ireland within from three to five years, was the message brought to America yesterday by T. P. O'Connor, M. P., one of the leaders of the Irish nationalist party in the house of commons, who arrived aboard the steamship Lusitania.

He will devote his two weeks' stay to a speaking tour of the larger cities under the auspices of the United Irish league, with the object of raising funds for the furtherance of the nationalist cause.

Budget Crucial Factor "And the budget problem is the crucial factor of the crisis," asserted Mr. O'Connor. "No ministry can survive a defeat on the annual budget. But the powers of the house of lords also form a critical phase in the situation. If that upper house rejects the budget, because of its projected increase of death duties and land taxes, there will be an immediate general election."

"Such an election is bound to produce a liberal majority. And, if the liberals win, the first thing they will do after attending to the financial problem will be to pass a bill in the house of commons which will abolish the absolute veto power held by the house of lords and substitute merely the authority of suspensory veto."

"Then, a home rule bill will be enacted by the lower house and passed up to the higher body. If the latter rejects the measure—for it has been this one stumbling block to Irish progress—the bill will be put up to its members again until it is accepted. That will bring home rule for Ireland at the second session. If the lords refuse to accept, the liberal strength in that body might be augmented by the creation of liberal peers."

"On the other hand, if the house of lords, in order to attempt the averting of just such a contingency, accepts the budget, either of two things will follow. The liberals will demand an appeal to the country on the question of the powers of the lords; if that is refused, the present governmental personnel will stop in office for another year, but that is likely to culminate in a small party or general election, depending on the Irish votes. And no party ever has given Ireland so much as the Tories when they were dependent on Irish votes. So, no matter what happens, Ireland is bound to win, and we don't care who helps us to win."

"Ireland has more interest in the next general election than in any election held since the home rule contest of 1885 and 1892. It has at hand the greatest opportunity afforded the Irish cause for a generation."

"Talk of abolition of the house of lords may be heard, but I do not think such a result probable; power of absolute veto, however, is sure to be shorn. The problem of whether the peers or the people are to rule is the burning issue today, and it will be decided in favor of the people. Members of the house of lords ought to have no powers of legislation. It is true, forty years ago that authority only as a birthright."

Mr. O'Connor contended further, that ultimate passage of the land purchase act is certain under provisions which will lend additional aid in eliminating landlords from Ireland. During his tour he will speak in Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, New York city and Lowell, Mass.

DEATHS

MOWATT—Jennie A. Mowatt, aged 68 years, died last night at her home, 3 Essex court, off Gornham street. She leaves three sons, Frank, Alfred and Albert, and a sister.

DEVINE—Thomas Devine, a well known young man, died last night at the home of his father, Michael Devine, 20 Riverside avenue, at the age of 22 years and 10 months. He leaves, besides his father, two brothers, Peter and Charles, and an aunt, Mrs. Mary Coleman.

HAMPSON—Julia A. Hampson, a well known resident of Dracut, died this morning at her home, 2 Pleasant street, Dracut, Navy Yard. She was 51 years of age and is survived by a brother, Bernard W., and two sisters, Miss Margaret G. Hampson and Mrs. Andrew Smith.

FOWLE—William H. Fowle, a very well known citizen of the town of Chelmsford, died yesterday at his home in Billerica street. His age was 64 years.

Mr. Fowle was stricken with a shock about two weeks ago as he was going from the Congregational church to his home. Since that time there has been little hope of recovery. In his death the town loses a sterling citizen, one whose work was ever done unobtrusively. Of late years he had conducted a small provision business at his home.

On his 18th birthday anniversary he enlisted in a Massachusetts regiment and went to the front. This was in 1862. He served his term of three years and then re-enlisted in a regiment of regulars. After that he saw considerable fighting in the west. He was a member of Post 155, G. A. R., and the Chelmsford Veterans association. He had been clerk of the Central Congregational society for many years, and was a regular attendant there. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Edward F. of New York and William Fowle of Danville, Pa.

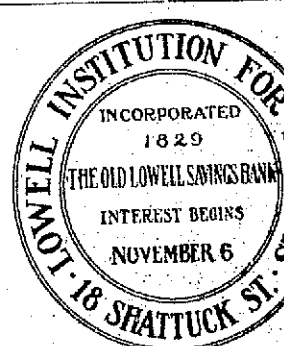

ONANIAN—Mrs. Waring Onanian, aged 40 years, died this morning at her home, 153 Charles street. She leaves a husband, Bogus Onanian. The remains were removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons.

NEW LISTS TUESDAY

The registrars of voters and their clerks were engaged this morning upon new checklists. This list when completed will include all the names of voters entitled to vote at the state election, which will take place the second day of November. The list as tabulated by the registrars will be ready for the printers this afternoon, and will be furnished to the democratic and republican headquarters Tuesday afternoon.

INTERESTING MEETING

The congregation of the First Congregational church will listen to a rare treat Sunday evening when James P. Ramsay will speak upon the most interesting of subjects, "A Chapter of Real Life." Mr. Ramsay is well qualified to speak upon this subject, for as a probation officer of the superior court he has come in contact with a great deal of life of all kinds. John Reed of Boston, a probation officer of Suffolk county, will also deliver an address. His subject will cover a wide scope, as he will go into the real troubles of those who appear before the courts.

Of Curls and Curling Irons

The difference between straight hair and curls is a curling iron. Then the best iron means the best curls. The electric curling iron has several advantages, heats its whole length, stays hot and is clean. It is also adapted to marcel waving.

6 O'CLOCK WOMAN MISSING

Left Her Room at Night---May Have Gone to River

Miss Mary McAnespie, aged 35 years, and employed as a domestic, is missing, and the police, to whom the matter was reported, fear that her body is now in the bed of the Merrimack river.

Miss McAnespie of late has been residing with her sister, Mrs. Bridget Moran, in Andover street, near the Tewksbury line, and but a short distance from the Merrimack river. Some time late Thursday night or early Friday morning she left the house and has not been seen or heard from since that time.

The appearance of the room which she occupied and the finding of clothes which she was in the habit of wearing would indicate that she had left the house in her night attire. It is felt that she was suffering from somnambulism and some time during the night or early morning walked into the river and was drowned.

Searchers found imprints of bare feet on the soft ground on the bank of the river, believed to have been caused by the missing woman. Miss McAnespie was of medium height, slender build, dark complexion and often wore glasses. The police are of the opinion that the girl's body is in the river.

SEEKS DIVORCE JEFFRIES READY

Woman is Keeping Her Plan a Secret He is Anxious to Meet Johnson

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Nellie A. Wood, an artist residing at 25 Columbus avenue, Somerville, has brought suit for divorce against her husband, Charles Wood, a member of the firm of Wood Bros., locksmiths, 48 Tenney street, Boston, implicating a young woman who lives in the suburbs.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Wood still live in the same house and appear to each other, Mr. Wood retired last night unaware of the fact that his wife had started divorce proceedings and attached his extensive real estate holdings in Somerville for $10,000 for the support of herself and her seven-year-old daughter.

Through her attorney, Howard P. Butler, Mrs. Wood filed her libel last Tuesday, following it is alleged, the discovery the day before of an encounter on the part of Mr. Wood and the young woman in question. Mrs. Wood was not certain of the young woman's name at the time of the alleged offense or at the time of the filing of the divorce libel, but she stated last night that she now not only knew the young woman's name but would be able to find her if necessary.

The artistic temperament which made Mrs. Wood so pleasing to her husband when she became a June bride 14 years ago, became intolerable when it showed signs of cropping out in Mr. Wood's affection.

The alleged meeting in Boston last Monday night capped the climax, it is said, to a series of similar outbursts of unrestrained affection on the part of Mr. Wood. At least the libel so states. Mrs. Wood, a pleasant looking woman of 35, admitted last night that Mr. Wood did not provide entirely for her support.

Asked if she did not think it singular that she should live in the same house with Mr. Wood and not tell him about the suit, she replied: "It may seem strange to those who are not acquainted with the case, but I can see no reason for acting otherwise and stirring up trouble. He will be surprised, I know, but it had to come."

INJURIES FATAL

Man Run Over by Horse Wagon

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—While responding to box 38 at 7:40 last evening the horse wagon of engine company 4, Bulfinch street, struck and ran over a man, believed to be Horace Clark, a plasterer, injuring him to such an extent that he died shortly after his arrival at the relief hospital in the police ambulance of division 1.

The man, who was apparently about 30 years old, stepped from the sidewalk of the southerly side of Howard street, near Court street, immediately after engine 4 had passed and walked directly in the path of the rapidly moving horse wagon.

The driver of the horse wagon could do nothing to avert the accident and the whiffletree of the wagon struck the man and knocked him down, the wheels passing over his stomach.

Chaps, chafes and other skin troubles are quickly relieved by Hood's Lotion, which soothes and heals the skin. Try it. 25c or 50c.

MANY VICTIMS

Of Terrific Typhoon at Haitian Straits

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Japanese liner Hippon Maru, which arrived here yesterday, reported that before leaving Hong Kong the British steamer Kwang arrived there and told of having passed many human bodies at the entrance of Haitian straits. The bodies were washed to spars and were in an advanced stage of decomposition. On one waterlogged sampan thirty bodies were counted.

MARIST BROTHERS

ENJOYED RIDE TO MANCHESTER TODAY

Twenty-one brothers of the Marist order, who teach at St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street, enjoyed an automobile ride to Manchester this morning, the invitation having been extended by Messrs. J. B. Pelneaut, Edward Desmarais, A. Delisle, Joseph Marin, Albert Blazon, Stephane Rochette and A. Archambault, who tendered their machines.

The party left the home of the brothers in Moody street at 8 o'clock this morning, and upon arriving in Manchester went to the College St. Marie in Wayne street, where dinner was enjoyed. The return trip was made during the early part of the afternoon.

SEN. GALLINGER'S SON DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—William H. Gallinger, 39 years old, a son of United States Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, died of heart failure last night at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Adelaide K. Johnston. According to Dr. David W. Tovey, who reported the case to the coroner, Mr. Gallinger rose from the dinner table, staggered, and fell to his bedroom, where he died before help could be summoned.

Mr. Gallinger and his father, whose private secretary he had been for many years, returned from Europe last Monday, after a two months' trip of inspection with the waterways commission, of which the senator was a member. The senator left New York for Concord, N. H., his home, yesterday. He is expected here to take charge of the body today.

JAPANESE VISITORS

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The important commercial and industrial establishments and educational institutions in Boston and its surrounding cities and towns were today thrown open to three score of the foremost businessmen of Japan who are making a tour of the United States. The commissioners, attended by about 20 delegates from the various chambers of commerce on the Pacific coast and a number of them accompanied by their wives, arrived by special train from Providence early this forenoon. They were met at the south station by a delegation from the Boston chamber of commerce which will entertain the visitors during the stay here and a tour of the main points of historical, industrial and commercial interest in this section of the state was immediately inaugurated.

As soon as the train pulled into the station the delegates were formed into three sections, according to the purpose of their investigation. The first and largest division which included about half the commission was taken in a special train to Quincy where the distinguished visitors were shown through the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. It was arranged to spend about two hours here and then go in automobiles to Harvard university.

The second section was met at the station by automobiles in which they were taken to the factory of the Waltham Watch Co., in Waltham, leaving after lunch for Harvard.

The five Japanese ladies who are accompanying their husbands in their tour of inspection comprised the third section. They were taken to the Hotel Touraine in this city and a little later in the forenoon left in automobiles for the home of Henry W. Longfellow in Cambridge, where they were entertained by the poet's daughter.

In the afternoon the party visited Harvard and attended the football game at the stadium between Harvard and Brown.

SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The methods which inspired the militant suffragettes in their efforts to obtain "votes for women" in England were laid before Boston sympathizers by Mrs. Emmeline Gould Pankhurst in her opening American campaign speech at Tremont temple last night.

Before an audience of more than 2,000, Mrs. Pankhurst described the various contests against the government authorities in England and held her audience for nearly two hours as she noted the prominent salient points in the "civil war" which she said was being carried on at this time in her own country.

She pleaded the cause of women from both the standpoint of a wife and mother, and with energetic arguments claimed that woman's suffrage was based upon the "bill of rights" and that women as well as men always had the right of petition.

She described the recent hunger strike as the most terrible weapon which had been used in the contest and in answer to questions which were freely hurled at her at the conclusion of the meeting went into some of the methods which had been pursued by the authorities of England in attempting to combat that particular phase of the movement.

Mrs. Pankhurst said that the suffragettes were in politics as an appeal as well as a shield for women, and predicted that it would prove a betterment for men. In laying her course before her Boston audience, Mrs. Pankhurst was obliged to describe the social and political phases of British life, and in that part of her address her appeal was in the nature of philanthropy.

She said that legislation was necessary for the education of children and in that legislation women should have an equal voice with men. The only question which was asked of public speakers in England was, "Why do you not give women a chance to vote on public questions which so vitally concern themselves and their children?" She claimed that the workingmen always sided with the women on all these questions and were their greatest support among the male voters. She made no effort to urge her audience to pursue similar methods in America, but nevertheless attempted to show how these methods were received in her own country.

In conclusion, she said that the greatest honor which could come to a suffragette in England was to be dragged forcibly from some meeting and to suffer imprisonment and that 500 women had been so "honored."

BIG AUTO RACE

With Many Entries Was Held at Oakland, Cal., Today

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 23.—Seventeen automobiles started at intervals of a few minutes today over the 21.12 mile circuit in the Oakland-Forest road races. Although the machines started almost simultaneously, they were entered in three distinct contests.

The first race over the seven laps of the course for an approximate distance of 150 miles was for cars of 231 to 450 inches piston displacement. The second class racers covered approximately 215 miles, making the circuit ten times.

These cars were of stock chassis type with a piston displacement from 451 to 600 inches. The third race, constituting the grand prize event of the day, was for racing cars and machines having a piston displacement in excess of 600 inches. This race also was open to cars which qualified in the foregoing events. The distance was approximately 255 miles.

IN POLICE COURT

ARRESTED ON RUN BY OFFICER LYNCH

Hold in $300 For Sentence Monday—He Had Recently Been in Bridgewater Institution

P. V. McCarthy was arraigned before Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with drunkenness and the larceny of a box of cigars, the property of Calderwood & Robbins.

McCarthy entered Calderwood & Robbins' store in Merrimack square early yesterday afternoon ostensibly for the purpose of purchasing a pipe. While Mr. Calderwood went to get the pipe for the man, McCarthy picked up a box of cigars and rushed out of the store.

Mr. Calderwood followed him out and called to some men to catch him. Patrolman Daniel Lynch caught McCarthy near the corner of John street.

In court this morning McCarthy pleaded guilty to both charges and inasmuch as he is now on parole from the state farm at Bridgewater he was held under $300 bonds for his appearance Monday morning for sentence.

Drunk Offenders

Frank Lyons, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to two months in jail. James McChesley and William J. Griffin were each fined $5.

There were two first offenders who were fined $2 each.

Several cases which have been before the court on numerous occasions were continued owing to the illness of the principals and the absence of witnesses.

YOUNG'S NEW QUARTERS

Yesterday this well known and leading tinsorial establishment, which has been located in the Hildreth building for many years, moved across to the new Wyman's exchange. They have fitted it up with every appliance for carrying on this line of business, and the new establishment is certainly ideal in every way. Their new and original styling apparatus is perfection itself, and the idea was conceived by Mr. J. C. Richards, who is the manager of the barber shop for Mrs. Young.

The ladies' room is also a very important branch of their business where massaging, manicuring, chiropody, and hair dressing can be attended to. Everything in this department is right up to the minute, and there is no reason why this establishment will not be the most popular and profitable place in the city to have your work done. They also make a specialty of children's haircutting, which is an important branch of their business. The place was open for business last evening, and in the future the people who want the best possible service will call at Young's in the new quarters on the second floor of the Wyman's exchange. If you do not care to walk, take the elevator.

ATLANTA'S HORSE SHOW

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—Atlanta's horse show, the most successful in the history of the Atlanta Horse Show association, came to a close last night. Gail Alfred G. Vanderbilt was the force in the prize winning, making a record with his fine Oakland Farms entries, winning in every event in which he contested and every entry taking a prize.

HOME RULE CAUSE

EMINENT ORATORS TO SPEAK HERE TUESDAY EVENING

The executive committee of the United Irish league met last night to arrange for the reception of the Irish envoy, Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P. Capt. Edward O'Meagher Condon, and John O'Callaghan at Associate hall next Tuesday evening. Lowell is highly honored in securing Mr. O'Connor, who crossed the Atlantic to speak only in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, but President Ryan arbitrarily decided to hold him long enough to go to Chicago and has consented to have him visit Lowell the day after he speaks in Boston.

O'Connor is perhaps the ablest man in the Irish party today, in oratory and as a writer. He published two papers in London that are widely read by all classes on account of the originality and the ability reflected in their pages.

Capt. Condon's name is imperishably associated with the Manchester martyrs, Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, who were executed in 1867 for rescuing Fenian prisoners in Manchester. He too was sentenced to death, but being an American citizen, he escaped the death penalty, and was given a long sentence in prison. After 11 years he was set at liberty and has been attached to the treasury department at Washington as building inspector. He supervised the building of the Lowell post office.

When sentenced to death in England he uttered that prayer, "God Save Ireland," that will resound down the ages long after the tyranny that brought it forth shall have vanished from the earth.

He has just returned from a tour of Ireland and England during which he was royally welcomed.

A committee on reception was appointed with Humphrey O'Sullivan as chairman, to meet the gentlemen in Boston and accompany them to Lowell.

There will be a meeting of the league tomorrow evening to make final arrangements for the big meeting. The tickets are for sale at Carter & Sherburne's, Merrimack square.

NEW BEAMING PLANT

Planned by American Hide and Leather Co. for Perry St.

Mr. C. P. Hall of Boston, vice president of the American Hide and Leather company, met with the board of health yesterday afternoon and made application for a permit to build a new and modern beaming plant that will cost $148,000 at the upper end of Perry street.

Stomach Trouble Cured

Physician Ordered Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye.

It was impossible for me to retain food of any kind on my stomach. My Physician ordered Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye in small quantities daily. Since using Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye I have been able to keep my food down without difficulty and am steadily gaining. My food tastes better and my blood seems to circulate more freely. With many thanks,

The People's Pattern Safety Lantern

Has many desirable features. It is hand-made, of heavy stock. Large air tubes giving more perfect combustion. Patent non-spilling oil reservoir—oil cannot escape if lantern is upset. Will outwear three ordinary lanterns.

the statement that Woburn has the worst beaming plants he has ever encountered.

Mr. Hall said: "We agree that we can't do business without the consent of the board of health. We will not go contrary to the wishes of the board. We recognize that health conditions are over the country demand changes."

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 16, 1909. C. P. Hall, Esq., Vice President American Hide and Leather Co., 17 East Street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir—The board of health understands that you are now prepared to submit plans and suggestions for the correction of the existing trouble in your beaming plant, and the board will be very glad to meet and confer with you at 5 o'clock p. m. on Friday, Oct. 22, 1909.

Yours truly, F. A. Bates, Agent. Boston, Oct. 16, 1909. F. A. Bates, Esq., Agent Board of Health, Lowell, Mass.

A. O. H. PARADE Will Surely Be Held in Lowell. There is little doubt now that the next state convention and parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held in this city next August. It is expected that there will be 15,000 men in line.

RAILROAD COMPANIES STARS OF THE MINNESOTA AND CHICAGO ELEVEN, READY TO CLASH

Should be Kept Within Bounds of the Law

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct. 28.—Announcing himself as an enthusiastic advocate of deep waterways, when such projects can be shown to be practicable and necessary and declaring that the piecemeal "procession by jerks" policy of congress in the past with reference to such improvements should be replaced with a definite general plan for opening up the great avenues of commerce, President Taft aroused the delegates to the convention of the interstate inland waterways league yesterday, to an enthusiastic demonstration of approval.

Continuing, the president said that in addition to extending commerce, deep inland waterways would serve as the best means to control railroad rates. In the meantime he urged the amendment of the interstate commerce laws to make their provisions more effective.

Mr. Taft added that he did not favor radical legislation; that his purpose merely was to keep railroad companies within the bounds of the law and down to reasonable rates.

He said the railroads should be encouraged.

In this connection, he referred to the fact that in some places there is a disposition to do injustice to the railroads and to drive the corporations to a system of economy which prevents the development of the country through which they pass.

The president urged a "square deal" for the railroads that they might not be deprived of reasonable profits through popular prejudice.

The president declared that the halting and sporadic system of river and harbor improvements in the past was the work of the committees in congress who had responded to clamor from home and to party considerations. The time has come, he declared, for a change in this system. A nine-foot intercoastal canal was one of the projects to which the president referred as part of a definite system of waterways improvement. President Taft arrived in Corpus Christi on the revenue cutter Windom from his yacht's ranch. After a short automobile ride through the prettily decorated city, he was taken to a grand stand at the foot of a natural terrace where the delegates to the waterways convention and the general public were gathered. School children were much in evidence.

The president made an immediate hit with his audience by asking that three tiers of seats immediately in front of him be vacated by the early comers to make way for a hundred or more veterans of the Confederate and Union armies, who had been assigned to a more remote section of the inclosure. The day was exceedingly warm.

motored to the Corpus Christi Golf and Country club and dedicated the new links by driving a ball from the first tee. The club presented him with a bag of nine splendid golf clubs as a souvenir of the occasion. The president and several members of his party dined at the home of Mrs. R. M. King, whose ranch comprises 1,200,000 acres.

The president returned to Gregory yesterday afternoon and left there at 8:20 o'clock last night for Houston and Dallas. He made a brief speech at Beeville last night standing on the rear of his car.

In his address at Corpus Christi, the president said:

"The subject of the conservation of our national resources received its first impulse from that crusader and reformer, Theodore Roosevelt. He pointed out how wasteful we had been of the blessings which God had showered upon this country, and yet which had limitations, which if we did not respect would ultimately bring us to a famine in relation to many of them."

"The program of conservation is a long one. It is one in regard to which we have taken some important steps. Of the government forests we have put about seventy per cent in forest reservations under control, so that we shall not suffer from forest fires or denudation by private greed."

"We have not taken all the steps that ought to be taken, but they doubtless will follow the adoption of the model plan of the general government by the state governments."

"We have not yet adopted the laws, but I hope to recommend them to congress, by which the government shall retain some control over the use of coal lands (still owned by the government and still to be put under private use) by which the water power sites shall be segregated from other parts of the public domain and parted with only under such conditions as shall enable the government to procure a proper revenue therefrom and to regulate the rates of power charged by those who shall take possession of those sites and transform the water power into electricity."

"The most important topic of this convention because it is the immediate subject of consideration, by the preservation of our waterways. It has long attracted the attention of the government; and while we do not permit our people to criticize us, when we get together in a convention and talk to each other confidentially, we must recognize that even we have made mistakes at times."

"We have invested $300,000,000 in our waterways and we have done some excellent work, when the work was more navigable; but the trouble with the work has been that it has been done largely by piecemeal. It has not carried out a theory or a great project with reference to the establishment of a great system of transportation."

"The time has arrived for changing

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—What promises to be one of the hardest fought gridiron contests ever played in the west is to take place in Minneapolis Oct. 30, when the football eleven representing the Chicago and Minnesota universities clash for supremacy. Minnesota is the team that Coach Stagg has feared all season and the only one that may prevent the Maroons from capturing the championship. Notwithstanding the costly debt that the Gophers paid to victory at Omaha recently, in defeating the husky Nebraska team, when Johnston, one of the greatest dodging and ground gaining back field men Coach Williams ever had in his football squad, suffered a broken leg, Minnesota still looms big on the gridiron horizon that Coach Stagg continually is scanning. Minnesota was "under a pull," in all probability, against Nebraska. The tackling of the northerners has been low and fierce all season. The "King Cole" plays of the Cornhuskers invariably were broken up before they got well started. Captain McGovern is not only a great kicker, but a rare little general in directing plays; a worthy rival of Captain Pat Page. The interference plans of the Gophers for their runners have gained much praise for the men and coaches. The probable makeup of the teams is as follows: Chicago—Right end, Sunderland; right tackle, Kelley; right guard, Ehrhorn; center, Badenoch; left guard, Rademacher; left tackle, Hoffman; left end, Kasaulker; quarterback, Page (captain); right half back, Crawley; left half back, Rogers; full back, Worthwine. Minnesota—Left end, Pettigrew; left tackle, Walker; left guard, Mohlsted; center, Farnum; right guard, Powers; right tackle, McCree; right end, Rademacher; quarterback, McGovern (captain); right half back, Rosenwald; left half back, Stevens; fullback, Smith. The history of the games played between the two universities is as follows: 1895, Minnesota 10, Chicago 8; 1896-7-8, no game; 1899, Chicago 29, Minnesota 0; 1900, Chicago 6, Minnesota 6; 1901-2-3-4-5, no game; 1906, Minnesota 4, Chicago 2; 1907, Chicago 18, Minnesota 12; 1908, Chicago 20, Minnesota 0. Illustration shows scene in Nebraska-Minnesota game.

LIBERAL LEADER

To be New Spanish Premier

MADRID, Oct. 23.—The ousting of the Maura cabinet and the appointment of a corps of liberal advisers, headed by Senor Moret, by King Alfonso is applauded not only in Spain, but all over Europe as well. Moret, who was premier once before, is the foremost liberal leader of the country. He also is the bitterest political foe of Maura, whom he succeeds. The young king is credited with the most popular move of his reign in dissolving the conservative cabinet.

HE RECEIVED $500

For Shortening the Weight on a Consignment

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—William N. Hutchinson, an assistant weigher of the United States customs house, testified yesterday at the trial of Antonio and Philip Muscia, charged with defrauding the government on importations of cheese that he received on one occasion about $500 from Philip Muscia for shortening the weight on a consignment.

"I was particularly careful to see that I got all that was coming to me," the witness said.

On cross examination Hutchinson explained that he had been promised immunity to tell the truth and told he would be kept in the employ of the government though not in his present position.

"Did you go to others to get money under such circumstances?" he was asked.

"Well, I did go to another man," the witness admitted. "If you show me the books I worked on I will show you where they were right and when they were not."

Police Supt. Welch Receives Communication Against Management of City Farm

Every day something new in the line of inquiring for missing people or those who have not been seen for years, turns up at the police station, and today was no exception to the rule, as Superintendent Welch received the following communication yesterday afternoon:

Belfast, Ireland, Oct. 1st, '09.

My Dear Sir:

If you could give me any information as regards the whereabouts of Miss Jane McAlesse, who is said to live in your city, or if you could, and would tell her to communicate with me she certainly would learn something of great benefit to herself. She left Ireland about 40 years ago, and she was a very dear friend of mine, and I have something for her welfare. I remain,

Respectfully yours,
Miss Kate Hunter,

SWEEPING THE STREETS.
Several parties have complained that during the fine weather we have had since the middle of summer, our public streets have been swept, where swept at all, during the day instead of at night. It is a common thing even on Sunday mornings to see street laborers go around picking up papers and other rubbish, all of which should have been taken up by the street sweepers the night before, if things were done as they should be.
We recognize the fact that the street department has a big job on its hands in the paving of Merrimack square, but that does not require the entire force of men or horses and this matter of sweeping the streets at night so as to gather up the dust and rubbish that collects during the day should not be neglected.

THE ARKWRIGHT CONSPIRACY.
It will become the republican party to be boasting of prosperity while the textile factories of the country are talking about curtailment. The proposed curtailment seems to be a combination in restraint of trade and should be investigated with a view to action under the anti-trust law. The order to curtail goes out to mills that have to work nights to supply the demand for their goods.

It is true that the extent of the curtailment proposed is not very great, but small as it is, it is unnecessary. It will probably be utilized as part of the vacation next summer and the most that it will amount to in the meantime will be two hours a week. That is not likely to be started before next year.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.
Eugene N. Foss is adding zest to the state campaign. He is showing up the inequities of the present tariff law, the overpowering force of the Lodge political machine, the inconsistencies of Governor Draper and the malign influence of the legislative lobby. He invites ex-Governor Guild to join the democratic party in order to escape being run over by the Lodge steam roller.

Verily, Mr. Foss is making things very uncomfortable for the republican leaders, while Mr. Vabey, the democratic candidate, is hammering away at the income tax issue, republican extravagance and the need of a change that will remove some of the political barnacles that have fastened themselves to the body politic.

CHARTER REFORM.
The discussion on charter reform held at the Highland Congregational church on Wednesday evening was highly interesting and instructive. The Haverhill speakers proved very forcibly that the city is much better off and is getting far better results for the money expended than it ever did under the old charter. The gentlemen who spoke of conditions in Haverhill were free to admit that there never was anything in the nature of open graft or dishonesty in the city government, but there seemed to be a lack of individual supervision and responsibility that permitted extravagance and the unnecessary or ill advised outlay of money. This is where the saving has been effected.

It was very evident from the statements made by the Haverhill gentlemen that everybody in that city is well pleased with the change and that the business of the government is transacted in a more satisfactory manner with fewer officials, smaller outlay and less red tape than formerly. One thing emphasized in the discussion applied with peculiar fitness to Lowell.
It was the statement that any city wanting a charter from the legislature must get its people united upon some definite form and demand its enactment. The legislature hesitates to grant a charter to any city while the people are not largely of one mind as to what they want. If the city of Lowell wants a charter, it will have to unite all the discordant elements in favor of some particular form of charter. That is the main object now to be overcome by this city. It is necessary to get a charter that will be acceptable alike to republicans and democrats, to labor men and capitalists, rich and poor alike. The organization that sets out to draft a charter, should have the co-operation of every society or public body interested, so that a consensus of opinion may be secured to support a demand upon the legislature for the enactment of the measure. Of course no such body would ask the enactment of a charter without the referendum, as to do so would be useless for the legislature would never grant such a request.

THE INCOME TAX ISSUE.
The income tax is the most important issue now before the people. It is proposed to have an amendment of our federal constitution providing for the levying of such a tax. The democratic party passed a law during the Cleveland administration authorizing the imposition of an income tax, but the supreme court overruled it.
The aim is to impose a tax on income, so that those who have the means to pay may be obliged to pay their fair share of the taxes. Such a tax would help to prevent the accumulation of vast fortunes, such as those of Carnegie or Rockefeller, and thus in time to overcome one of the great evils of our day, to wit, the accumulation of wealth in the hands of the few to the extent that a few money kings can practically defy the power of the government. Moreover, the income tax would supply revenue for the government, so that it would not be necessary to raise so much by means of a tariff on imports.
The legislative candidates who do not favor the income tax should not be elected. They are opposed to a measure that would particularly benefit the masses, and that would be of great advantage to the country in emergencies, when any extraordinary expenditure would be necessary.

SPONSOR'S MISTRESS.
Let Cowley sort in any town,
The roving of his love-rehearsal.
With passion most unruly,
Boast how he would sweet Amoret,
The robbing Jane, the sprightly Bet,
The jolly fair, and smart brunette,
In sweet succession truly.
But list ye lovers, and ye'll swear,
I rove'd with him beyond compare,
And was far more unlucky,
For never yet in Yankee coast
Were found such girls, who so could
boast,
An honest lover's heart to roast,
From Casco to Kentucky.
When first the girls nicknam'd me
beau,
And I was all for dress and show,
I set me out a courting,
A romping Miss, with heedless art,
First caught, then almost broke my heart,
Miss Conductor nam'd, we soon did part,
I did not like such sporting.
The next coquet who raised a flame,
Was far more grave and somewhat
lame,
She in my heart did rankle,
She conquer'd, with a sudden glance,
The spiteful maid was called Miss Chance.
I took the gypsy out to dance,
She almost broke my ankle.
A thoughtless girl, just in her teens,
Was the next fair, whom Love it seems
Had made me prize most highly,
I thought to court a lovely mate,
But how it made my heart to ache,
It was that jade, the vile Miss Take;
In truth, Love did it slay.
And last, Miss Fortune, whimpering,
Came,
Cur'd me of Love's tormenting flame,
And all my beau pretenses,
In widow's weeds, the prude appears;
See now—she drowns me with her
tears,
With bony fist, now slaps my ears,
And brings me to my senses.

ternal remedies used heretofore have frequently been beneficial, but have permanently cured of eczema was long thought to be impossible. It was this deplorable condition that inspired the chemist who discovered the new remedy, Cadum. Since Cadum was introduced a short time ago, experience has shown that long treatments, with it are unnecessary, two or three weeks
being usually sufficient for an ordinary case of eczema. A single application will entirely subdue the itching, and will also accomplish, wonderful results in ringworm, itch, acne, scabies, itching skin, chafing, boils, inflamed skin, red and inflamed noses, pimples, blackheads, etc. Where the disease presents an unsightly appearance, the thin coating of Cadum almost conceals the sore. The gratifying results which have attended the use of Cadum in the treatment of eczema and other skin diseases warrant
the belief that there never has before
been introduced to the public such an efficient and perfect product as Ca-
dum. It is free from all poisons and and dangerous mixtures. Every ingredient for which a standard of purity is set by the Pharmacopoeia, complies with the standard, so as to secure the great efficacy which this new remedy possesses. All druggists supply Cadum at 10c and 25c per box.

JUSTICE PECKHAM'S ILLNESS HAS ALARMED WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The illness
of Justice Rufus W. Peckham at Ala-mont, N. Y., is being closely watched by many persons in public and private life here. Neither Justice Peckham nor Justice Moody, who is now ill in Boston, has appeared in Washington since
the convening of the fall term of court,
though the latest reports from Justice
Moody are favorable. Of course the work of the court goes on without appreciable delay, though the cases assigned to the absentees for the writing of decisions will probably be held up for some time. What those cases are is not known, as the distribution of decisions among the separate justices is not given out. Five justices of the supreme court constitute a quorum, and seven out of nine have been in regular attendance since the convening of the term.

sorship of dental pathology, therapeutics and materia medica, was elected professor emeritus. Dr. Truman has been connected with the university for 27 years. His chair will be occupied by Edward C. Kirk, at present professor of clinical dentistry and dean of the dental faculty.

Five years ago, with little more than health, energy and the blessed assurance of the young college graduate in his ability to fall on his feet, Harry A.
Frank set out to make a trip around the world. As his necessities took him far from the track of the tourist, it is the real Old World he sets before his reader's eyes, and the Century will publish during the coming year three articles, in which he relates his experience on a tramp through Palestine, as a stowaway on an English steamer from Port Said to India, and life among the hobos in India.

It seems that the title of the new play that Henri Bernstein has practically been commissioned to write for the Comedie Francaise, and the first virtual commission to write a play ever issued by the directors of the Comedie is to be called "Après le Déluge" (After the Deluge), which will probably translate itself into the English
"After Me." Charles Frohman owns the English speaking rights of the play, but it is a curious fact that the Comedie Francaise, between the Comedie Francaise and the authors who write for its stage forbid the authors from even showing the manuscript of their play before it has been acted on the stage of the Comedie.

THE WHITE SQUAW
D. M. Clarke's new comedy drama,
"The White Squaw," which was presented at the opera house on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 19, 10, is said to be a play of exceptional dramatic worth, of pathos, tragedy and comedy.
Among the members of the company,
who are given excellent opportunity

Emerson Brown is the topline offering at Hathaway's theatre, next, week.
Beatrice Ingram, a capable actress and an excellent supporting company appear in the play, which is called "The Duchess." The story told is plausible, showing the cashier of a department store, who, by a practical joker, is informed that she is the recipient of a legacy of a million dollars. The girl is deceived and at once starts spending part of it which has been entrusted to her. But the money is practically all gone when she is informed that the store has to go back to the routine of her work again. Sup-

Miss Claire Victor and William Slane.
Burt Sheppard, the famous Australian cowboy and whip, manipulator who has created a furor during his Euro-very funny, and one member of the team is one of the lightest footed dancers seen on the stage in many seasons.

Miss Helen Phlegge and her company will offer the bright comedy playlet,
"The Girl and the Couch," a sketch in which fun and a pretty love story are pleasantly combined. Miss Phlegge is a bewitching little woman, and in the course of the play she demon-scenes of this picture take place in the east, the principals are all westerners and the whole picture has the western dash and go to it. The one exciting scene is at a round up where the cowboys perform more thrilling stunts than have ever been seen before. In fact, one of the men gets away with a steak that has been accomplished but three times with safety. Another time

a bucking broncho turns a complete somersault in its efforts to unseat the daring rider. This picture is destined to be the most successful of its kind ever shown.

Corsets of the Winter

The New Models Combine a Fashionable Cut With Unusual Comfort --- Moyen Age Lines

NEW CORSET WITH BUST SUPPORTER WHICH WILL PROVE TO BE POPULAR.

LACED IN FRONT MODEL.

A SIMPLE AND SENSIBLE CORSET NOVELTY IN SILK JERSEY WEBBING.

THAT whaleboned thing a corset? I heard one woman scornfully ask another as they stood before a shop window in upper Fifth avenue where new corset models were on exhibition. "Yes, dear," came the dulcet reply, "the very latest scream—a stay made of silk jersey, which fits the figure snugly and is so comfortable you don't realize you have it on." "Well, I'm pleased to meet it for I haven't sat down with a minute's real peace since the extra long corsets came in," said the inquirer.

After the above conversation I entered the shop and was told by an unusually gracious saleswoman that the exhibit represented the smartest corsets just received from Paris, which models are reproduced for your benefit in the illustrations. The gown has made the corset and is still making it, for the new examples are designed for middle age fashions. It just happens that all of the moyen age dresses and frocks with these lines demand the reformation that takes a woman's figure back to the makeup of the original Mother Eve.

In these newest models the corsetiers have retained the long straight appearance by taking the decided curve out of the side and bust gores, and he has made a lower bust, which gives the wearer room to breathe and develop her lungs and a space in which to move and to keep her digestion in good order. One of the very low bust corsets has a bust supporter of trikot. Though the boning extends but a few inches over the hips, the material is sufficiently firm to hold the figure tautly with the aid of the hose supporters. And apropos of these supporters, the corset of the winter requires a distressing number of garters since the long sides and back must not be allowed to wrinkle or slip up the bones which hold the upper part smooth and at a reasonable depth. Four sets of garters are put upon many of the corsets, and in spite of patent clasps much havoc has been wrought in the

These fashionable new corsets have few bones, and they are wonderfully comfortable things to wear. The modelish woman does not expect her corset to reduce her hips to the vanishing point; she knows full well that this is only accomplished by exercise, massage, diet, etc., although the perfect fitting stay does make the most of a reasonably good figure. To sum up the Parisian models—which, by the way, are not so remarkably different from the corsets we have been wearing all summer—one might say that the bust line is lower, the bones cut to a reasonable length, although the material continues long over the hips, and the line in front from the waist is short-

Greeks, and there are others who affirm that the corset was never heard of until the middle ages. It was then known by the name of justaucorps, and later it was called surcoat and corset. At that time it was a stiff contrivance that laced front and back, this last form being introduced by Isobel of Bavaria. An improvement on this royal invention is to be observed in the new Margaine Lacroix laced in front corset developed in a lightweight baliste. In this model steels are few in number and are light and flexible, making the garment less cumbersome and the wearer's figure more supple.

True Badge of Blue Blood

Ability and Disposition to Do Any Kind of Work When Necessity Blows the Bugle Indicate Character.

TO be aristocratic is all very well, my friends, and, being somewhat of a snob myself, I have sympathy with the class. But remember this—the true badge of blue blood is to be able to do any class of work when it is necessary.

I have just received a visit from a woman who is very hard up, indeed, but instead of getting busy at any old job that will bring her the necessities of life she is living at the expense of a little woman much better born than she is, by the way, who fortunately is enough of a thoroughbred to work for both.

Sometimes I get out of patience with women who have only too little money and yet haven't the nerve and pluck to reduce their expenses and get down to any kind of work that presents itself. Instead of waiting for the golden chance that is worthy of them (at least so they think).

It is the women who have the least money who spend it the most recklessly, which accounts for their being as dead broke as they are half the time.

Take the subject of the cleaner's bill, for example. Have you any idea how many things there are that will wash?

An Essay on Lace Cleaning, Etc.

The average woman never finds out because she never takes the trouble to investigate. It is all right to patronize the dry cleaners if you have the money, but if you haven't you had better pick out articles of dress that will stand a good scrubbing with soap and water. Fortunately there are many of these.

For instance, a heavy lace waist, lined with point d'esprit or brussels net, will launder beautifully, but the same thing lined with chiffon means rags and a perpetual cleaner's bill. Of course there are very fine and dainty waists that have to be made over, but these are not for the woman of small means. Then there are many varieties of woolen goods that wash far better than they clean. Among these are black and white checks, white serges and even some grades of white broadcloth. A white unlined broadcloth cape of good quality can be laundered over and over again, and a friend of mine has a black and white wool checked dress, also unlined, that she puts regularly in the tub.

On the other hand, when a garment needs cleaning I do not believe in the homemade naphtha operation. I am sorry to say it is apt to be decidedly stinky and "smell to high heaven."

Dry cleaning is not an operation in which the average woman excels, and she had better leave it to those who make of it a profession. The woman who economizes, at any rate, should do so sensibly. Too many women, alas, are penny wise and pound foolish.

They think they are saving, but in reality spend more money than their most extravagant sisters.

One woman of my acquaintance thought it was extravagant to have an account in a bank where they draw checks, and yet she spent more than her interest from the savings bank because she had to make so many trips there. Another kept her old clothes for an indefinite period, fixing them over each year, priding herself that she bought no new ones, and yet she spent enough for new gowns many times over in the old gowns she fixed.

Another woman trimmed her own hats, but she quickly grew tired of them because they didn't look right. The result was her closets were filled with hats, not one of them being smart looking. But the total cost of this millinery would have certainly paid for one excellent model.

Many women consider that homely things must be practical and for this reason always buy the ugliest and heaviest of materials. Their economy is the easiest to show up, but it is usually exercised on children and dependents, so one does not have a chance to hear many complaints, and as soon as these people are emancipated they fly to the other extreme and comfort themselves.

Good Judgment Means Economy.

Economy means simply good judgment, the power to decide between two things when one has not the money for both. When well practiced it means a thorough training for the mind and the taste; when badly exercised it is the most foolish thing on earth.

The woman who persists in speaking the truth and in having "set" ideas will never proceed very far socially.

Society is not a lecture platform or a reform club, and people who want every one to think as they think had far better live alone, where they will suffer no opposition.

People with convictions may be and doubtless are the salt of the earth, but in ordinary, everyday communication with their fellow beings they are impossible. They judge people by the most exalted standards, and when these individuals fall short the person with convictions has no earthly use for them. Some one has to give in and be elastic in this world or we should be a lot of perfectly hateful people. It strikes me that the woman who has no particular views to offend anybody and who can smile and joke about everything makes the biggest hit of them all.

HALLOWEEN CAKE.

The spook cake is merely a large angel food cake baked in a loaf pan with a cylinder in the middle. After the cake is iced with white icing (made with pulverized sugar and water) the edges are outlined with one inch candles cut from a medium sized candle. Each guest is given a slice of cake containing a horoscope, and, of course, it is supposed to be a true delineation of the future. Heat the end of the candle to make the wax run before sticking it on the icing. The wax will hold the short candle and horoscope in place.

FOR SUNDAY LUNCHEON.

A delicious luncheon course for Sunday, when the man of the family has to be coaxed into thinking home is the best place after all, is a small chicken en casserole, with peas and carrots. Each casserole is first rubbed with garlic, which gives a delicious, indelible flavor to the whole.

WALNUT WAFERS.

Half pound of brown sugar, half pound of walnut meats broken, three even teaspoonfuls of flour, scant half teaspoonful soda, scant teaspoonful cream of tartar, pinch of salt and two eggs. Beat the eggs, add the sugar, salt, flour (in which have been sifted the soda and cream of tartar) and lastly walnut meats. Drop small spoonfuls on buttered pans and bake until brown. Remove from pan as soon as baked.

BAKED PEACH PUDDING.

Put enough pared whole peaches into a deep baking dish to nearly fill it. Roll out a rich baking powder biscuit dough three-quarters of an inch thick and cut to fit the top of the dish. Set on top of the range and cover closely. Cook moderately until the fruit is soft and the crust cooked light by the steam. Do not raise the cover for three-quarters of an hour before testing. Cut a gash in the middle of the crust and pour in a syrup made from one cup of sugar, one-half cup of boiling water and a rounding tablespoonful of butter heated together. Set in the oven to brown.

WHEN COOKING CHICKENS.

The best way to cook chickens, whether young or old, is to brown them first by broiling, frying or basting and then cook them in a covered pan in the oven, the time of the latter cooking to be regulated according to the age of the chicken.

JUST GATHERED UP.

A girl recently returned from a series of visits asked not to be questioned as to how much she enjoyed it, as she had been living in the divorce zone. "In every family in those places, and I went to five colonies," she said, "there had been a divorce, and the one topic was the heart hunger that had made one or the other seek fresh fields. I could not quite understand why any woman should be hungry for love and sympathy when endowed with a decent husband and children or why it was always the most eligible bachelor that was hungrier for."

really believes the parrot taught him to swear."

Women who are deft with their hands can make all manner of trifles for the house out of tissue paper. Among the serviceable articles thus made are table mats to slip under hot dishes. They are composed of strips of tissue paper braided, like the old fashioned braided mats. A piece of cardboard is the foundation. Glove and handkerchief cases, sachets and many other things for the dressing table are made of flowered tissue paper and are very pretty.

The chamola treatment is the latest thing for the complexion and is said to produce the pearl like pallor which is modish just now. The skin is massaged gently with a cleansing food; then while moist it is rubbed with a strip of the chamola which has been wet with warm water, covered with a lather of warm pure kind of soap and then allowed to dry. When dry it is soft and fine and very good for the skin, says a beauty specialist.

MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT, SUFFRAGIST.

Leading Spirit in the New Political Equality Association.

Through the financial aid of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who is taking an active interest in the suffragist cause, the new Political Equality Association has been whispers that a social complication has arisen. Perhaps Mrs. Mackay has seen a new light and may now oppose equal suffrage, or she may not approve of the methods of Mrs. Belmont. Her rival, if there be any existing rivalry between these two prominent women, must admit the zeal of Mrs. Belmont, who rises at 5 in the morning in order to discharge her serious work before beginning the recently gone into very large and luxurious business quarters on the seventeenth story of a Fifth avenue office building in New York city.

Mrs. Belmont holds no office in the organization, but from her own office, which, by the way, is the smallest in the suit of rooms, she expects to direct the work of the society. Although a very convincing speaker on the subject of votes for women, Mrs. Belmont, it is understood, will not make any public speeches in favor of the franchise. Her rival in the suffrage work—Mrs. Clarence Mackay—seems to have lost touch of her enthusiasm as a suffragette. She is silent now, where a few months ago she was freely expressing herself in favor of votes for women. Mrs. Belmont now stands in the limelight, where Mrs. Mackay stood only a short time ago, and there have social routings of the day. That Mrs. Belmont's day is pretty well filled one has only to know that she is overseeing the building of a town house and family mausoleum and the erection of a series of small hospitals on Long Island.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

A woman who is a famous housekeeper has hit upon a clever plan to save her napkins from fruit stains.

She purchases plain white paper napkins with scalloped edges and has them on the table whenever fruit is served. Her family and guests alike are requested to use them instead of the fine napkins, for every housewife knows only too well how badly fruit stains them and how hard it is to remove the stains.

CARE OF THE TEETH.

A FAMOUS old Frenchman was once heard to say that a woman with really good teeth could never be plain. This may be rather a sweeping statement, but there is no doubt that an otherwise plain appearance is often redeemed by a perfect set of teeth and the effect of many a pretty face marred by bad teeth.

Perfectly formed, even, white teeth are a natural gift, but much can be done to improve the color and keep them in good condition, chief among these little attentions being careful brushing night and morning. Now, while every one cleans his or her teeth in the morning, very many people, unfortunately for their teeth, neglect to do so at night, and this is a very serious mistake. During the night the particles of food which have lodged between the teeth during the day produce incalculable damage, and if but two or three minutes be given to brushing them at night much of the decay would be arrested.

The presence of tartar upon the teeth is a source of annoyance to a great many people. It is not only unsightly, but causes the teeth to ache. This tartar can be removed easily without the aid of a dentist. Purchase a small piece of magnesia, wet the toothbrush in warm water, dip it into the magnesia and rub the teeth upon which the tartar has collected.

The value of carbonate of soda as a preservative of the teeth cannot be too highly prized. If a pinch of it is added to the water in which the teeth are cleaned night and morning the benefit derived will soon be realized. A good plan is to dissolve a teaspoonful of the soda in a tumbler of water, dip into this a coarse cotton or silk thread and pass it up and down between the teeth to remove any particles of food which may have gathered in the crevices.

Too great care cannot be exercised in the choice of tooth powder, and anything which professes to whiten the teeth may destroy the enamel and thus do irreparable harm. Once in six weeks it is a good plan to brush the teeth lightly with finely powdered pumice stone.

At the first sign of decay a dentist should be consulted and the cavity filled, for neglect to do this must result in the loss of the tooth eventually, and, although the modern art of dentistry is now so perfect that false teeth can be procured to look exactly like one's own, they can never be really quite the same.

Once mature years have been reached nothing can be done for the shape of the teeth or toward regulating their position, but those who have the care of children should see that those matters are promptly attended to by a good dentist, for much of the pain and discomfort which people experience through them could have been prevented by a little attention in childhood.

While I am on the subject of teeth I would like to say a word about lips. Pale, colorless lips are by no means beautiful. Generally they are caused by ill health or a poor circulation. A little gentle friction with a rough Turkish towel will do much to improve them.

HALLOWEEN GAMES.

What Happens When the Prince of Darkness Presides at the Party.

A Halloween celebration at which the Prince of Darkness personally presides can be made very effective. The invitations should be written in red on black paper, and the guests should be asked to wear masks.

The hostess should be dressed as a witch in black, with peaked hat and broom, and Satan wears red, with a red mask. There are also various subsidiary friends (small brothers and sisters) dressed in black, with rope tails, painted caps and toothy grins at the ends of sticks.

A room can be arranged as hades, or the basement can be used for the purpose, in which case the furnace door can be thrown open at intervals with great effect. A throne of boxes draped in black is erected in the center of hades, and on it Satan sits, with a book of record in his lap. A dictionary serves the purpose excellently.

At the appointed time the hostess swings open the gates of hades or conducts the guests by a circuitous route to the basement. Two fiends rush forward, seize a guest and begin to prod him with their forks. Chains clank, groans are heard, and the victims are led to the foot of the throne.

Here is where most of the fun comes in, for Satan knows or has been primed with all the interesting facts in the history of each guest. In a hollow voice he reads long lists of sins from the dictionary, and all the time the fiends are "torturing" the victim. As soon as one is sentenced to toothache, malaria, unrequited love or headache another victim is brought before the throne until all have been disposed of.

At supper all unmask. Satan sits at one end of the table and the witch at the other, and there is a gypsy's kettle in the center, which later emits a ghastly light from burning alcohol sprinkled on salt.

PANSY CLUB PARTY

The fourth annual dancing party of the Pansy club was held last night in Prescott hall and proved to be as successful as the socials previously conducted by the club. The music for dancing was furnished by the Gilmore orchestra.

The success of the affair was due to the efficient work of the following officials:

General manager, Mary Oldfield; assistant general manager, Eva Carroll; floor director, Joseph Buchanan; assistant floor director, Bertha Frame; chief aid, Helen Frame; aids, Louise Poole, Alice Noel, Cecilia Goyes; reception committee, Nellie Dias, Theresa Oldfield.

BAPTIST SOCIAL UNION

The first annual meeting of the reorganized Lowell Baptist union will be held at the First Baptist church next Monday evening, October 26. The program includes an informal reception at 6.30 a banquet at 7 o'clock which will be followed by the reports and election of officers and committees, and an address by Rev. John S. Lyon, D. D., of Holyoke, well known to many as an able and popular after dinner speaker, on "The New Liberty." There will also be special music at intervals throughout the evening.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—President Taft will face the most distinguished gathering of his entire 13,000 mile trip when he addresses the lakes to the great deep waterways convention at New Orleans on Oct. 30. The governors of two-thirds of the states in the Union will be present as well as a large number of senators and representatives from the states of the middle west. So intense is the interest of all public men as well as the agricultural, mining, manufacturing and stock raising element of the territory between the Western Reserve and the Rocky mountains in the ship canal project that all these lines of business will be actively represented at the meeting. The middle west intends to strike the hardest blow of its history for commercial supremacy on this occasion. New Orleans has made such preparations to entertain its distinguished guests as no southern city ever did before. The New Orleans Progressive union, of which Philip Werlein is president, will be chief host of the visitors, and all the clubs and business organizations of the city, famous for its lavish hospitality, will vie with one another in showing the president the time of his life during his stay.

SEN. McCARREN DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Patrick H. McCarran, state senator and democratic leader of Brooklyn, died at St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn at 1.15 o'clock this morning, never having completely rallied from the effects of an operation for appendicitis which was performed on October 15.

Patrick Henry McCarran, by trade a cooper, by profession a lawyer, and by vocation a politician, was one of the most picturesque figures in the political history of Greater New York. No leader was ever more roundly condemned, yet at the close of sixty-one years of his life he probably was the most strongly entrenched leader in New York state and even wielded some influence in national politics.

Born in East Cambridge, Mass., he came to Brooklyn when he was eight years old. He was apprenticed to a cooper when sixteen, but having mastered his trade, he took up the law and from the law went into politics. In 1882 he was sent to the state legislature and has since served almost continuously there.

Senator McCarran first became recognized as a coming leader in the days when David B. Hill was at the height of his power. By 1898 he had become so well recognized that the democratic state committee made him head of the executive committee. Five years later he wrested the leadership of Brooklyn from Hugh McLaughlin, who had held it for 46 years. Since that time the senator had won all primaries, though his political death was predicted each year. At the democratic national convention which nominated Alton B. Parker the task of inducing southern leaders to remain in line, following the arrival of the famous "Gold" telegram, fell on McCarran's shoulders.

McCarran's opposition to the candidacy of Mr. Hearst for governor led to charges of treason, and his delegates were excluded from the party convention, which last year named delegates to the Denver national convention. Nevertheless he appeared there with delegates, who were again rejected. His downfall was then confidently predicted, but only last month he recovered what he regarded as final vindication when he won nineteen of the twenty-three districts of his borough.

Physically Sen. McCarran was very tall and lank. In manner he was courteous and generous of attention, but regardless of speech. The qualities which in the opinion of his friends contributed most to his success in politics, were kindness, frankness of purpose, personal fidelity, perfect self-control and patience.

He was sometimes called a hard man and devoid of sentiment. "I had a romance once," he said to a close friend. "When I was a young man I fell in love with a girl and we were married. We lived very happily. We had five children. When I was thirty-one I had buried my wife and five children."

LEADING OFFICERS OF THE HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Registration and Other Matters of Importance

At the close of registration of pupils for the evening classes at the Lowell Textile school last evening, Principal Charles H. Eames stated that a perceptible increase over the figures of last year was shown each night. Registration will continue intermittently until Jan. 1, when a statement as to the exact number of registrations will be forthcoming.

Mr. Eames also stated that there is an increase in the attendance at the day school. This year there are fewer students from outside of the New England states. Massachusetts, of course, has the majority of them. The school does not advertise outside of New England, and it is the desire of the management that young men from Massachusetts and other New England states avail themselves of the opportunities offered. For that reason tuition is but $100 to New Englanders, while it is $150 for those from other states and from foreign countries. The first Finlanders to be enrolled in the day classes at the school comes this term. Aside from him, there are no others from foreign countries. Two Michigan students are also registered.

Athletic Meet

On the 3d of November the first fall track meet of the Textile school will be held on the school campus. This will be an annual event and already there seems to be quite a little rivalry existing among the various classes, and the men are coming out strong to uphold their class honor. Class captains will probably be elected in the near future and will select the men for the various events. Prizes will be awarded to the men securing first, second or third places and a cup will be awarded to the man securing the most number of points. The regular order of events will be run off which will include the century, the furlong, the quarter, the half, and the mile. The list of field events will include the high jump, the broad jump, the pole vault and the 12 pound shot put. The low hurdle race will also be one of the features as there are some fast tappers in the entering class. In addition to this there will be a class relay and a tug of war. The points will be awarded as follows, first place will count five points, second place three points, and third place will be awarded one point. To the class securing the most number of points will be awarded a class banner with the nature of the event on it. The cinder track is well under way and will be in good condition within a few days unless something happens. It is very probable that a school track team will be organized in the spring and meets will be secured with various schools in the vicinity. Last year there was quite a lot of interest taken in track work and a few of the men entered in the interscholastic and other outdoor meets and made a good showing. The last year that the school was represented by a track team was in the winter of 1905 when the school turned out a fast set of athletes who did creditable work on the indoor track. Among the men who have been out already there seems to be quite a little rivalry existing among the various classes, and the men are coming out strong to uphold their class honor. Class captains will probably be elected in the near future and will select the men for the various events. Prizes will be awarded to the men securing first, second or third places and a cup will be awarded to the man securing the most number of points. CANDIDATE FOSS

Addressed Letter to Gov. Draper

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The controversy between Gov. Draper and Eugene N. Foss, the former republican, who is a candidate for lieutenant governor on the democratic ticket, over the veto of the eight hour bill by the chief executive, was resumed last night, both sides referring to the subject at the various rallies. Mr. Foss last night addressed an open letter to Gov. Draper, in which he said:

"Gov. Draper, among honorable men there can be but one honest course to take. You have striven and are striving to create the impression that I wrote you a personal letter urging you to veto the eight hour bill. You know that such is not the case. You know some one prepared, whether at your instigation or not, a circular, printed or copied, of many copies of it, one of which was presented to me, and which I signed as a petition to be presented to you urging you in common with other manufacturers, to veto a bill, which was greatly misrepresented in that petition. You know that many, many others signed that same petition, or exact copies of it. It was presented to me; I signed it, handed it back to the one who brought it, and he took it away with him. If it had been a letter from me to you I should have mailed it."

Gov. Draper in his campaign addresses has asked why the democratic criticism of his veto of the eight hour bill has been directed wholly towards himself when Mr. Foss has signed a document favoring the veto. Weeks ago Gov. Draper, Congressman Weeks and E. Mark Sullivan addressed a rally at Weymouth last night. Gov. Draper also spoke in Brookline.

The democrats held rallies in Worcester and South Framingham. James H. Vahey, the democratic candidate for governor, delivered addresses in both places. Former Congressman John M. Thayer spoke at the Worcester rally, as did Senator Gore of Oklahoma.

8 O'CLOCK WOMAN MISSING

Left Her Room at Night---May Have Gone to River

Miss Mary McAnespie, aged 35 years, and employed as a domestic, is missing, and the police, to whom the matter was reported, fear that her body is now in the bed of the Merrimack river.

Miss McAnespie of late has been residing with her sister, Mrs. Bridget Moran, in Andover street, near the Tewksbury line, and but a short distance from the Merrimack river. Some time late Thursday night or early Friday morning she left the house and has not been seen or heard from since that time.

The appearance of the room which she occupied and the finding of clothes which she was in the habit of wearing would indicate that she had left the house in her night attire. It is felt that she was suffering from somnambulism and some time during the night or early morning walked into the river and was drowned.

Searchers found imprints of bare feet on the soft ground on the bank of the river, believed to have been caused by the missing woman. Miss McAnespie was of medium height, slender build, dark complexion and often wore glasses. The police are of the opinion that the girl's body is in the river.

SEEKS DIVORCE JEFFRIES READY

Woman is Keeping Her Plan a Secret He is Anxious to Meet Johnson

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Nellie A. Wood, an artist residing at 25 Columbia avenue, Somerville, has brought suit for divorce against her husband, Charles Wood, a member of the firm of Wood Bros., locksmiths, 43 Tenney street, Boston, implicating a young woman who lives in the suburbs.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Wood still live in the same house and speak to each other, Mr. Wood retired last night unaware of the fact that his wife had started divorce proceedings, and attached his extensive real estate holdings in Somerville for $10,000 for the support of herself and her seven-year-old daughter.

Through her attorney, Howard P. Butler, Mrs. Wood filed her libel last Tuesday, following it is alleged, the discovery the day before of an encounter on the part of Mr. Wood and the young woman in question. Mrs. Wood was not certain of the young woman's name at the time of the alleged offense or at the time of the filing of the divorce libel, but she stated last night that she now not only knows the young woman's name, but would be able to find her if necessary.

The alleged meeting in Boston last Monday night capped the climax, it is said, to a series of similar outbursts of unrestrained affection on the part of Mr. Wood. At least the libel so states. Mrs. Wood, a pleasant looking woman of 35, admitted last night that Mr. Wood did not provide entirely for her support.

"It is about all that any man can do to provide suitably for one woman," said she, in commenting upon her following her profession as an artist. "I know that I shall be blamed for starting these proceedings," she continued, "but things have just gone along without a protest and now I am indifferent to what may be said regarding my action in this matter. Those who know me, however, will not believe wrong of me."

Asked if she did not think it singular that she should live in the same house with Mr. Wood and not tell him about the suit while they were on speaking terms, she replied: "It may seem strange to those who are not acquainted with the case, but I can see no reason for acting otherwise and stirring up trouble. He will be surprised, I know, but it had to come."

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—"Fight?" said Jim Jeffries last night as he settled his big shoulders in his overcoat before going out to see a turn of American vaudeville, "why, that's what I'm here for. Whatever Berger has signed up for goes. I don't know what it is, but it goes."

"The division of a purse has been agreed on," put in Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager; "Johnson has conceded that to us. That leaves only three points to settle:

"First, the selection of a stakeholder. Second, the referee.

"Third, a place and time for the reception of bids.

"That's all there is to it. The fight will go to the highest bidder. There's to be no wrangle about that. Various tentative offers have been received, of course, but no formal bids. We ought to have a couple of weeks to get them all in, I should say, and then decide on them fairly automatically to the best responsible bid."

"Will Jeffries consider any theatrical engagements?" was asked.

"Nothing is going to interfere with our being on the spot when the time comes," replied Berger. "He might pick up a little extra money, but he will sign for no extended tour, and his engagement he does make will contain a release clause, guaranteeing his presence in the ring."

"How soon will he fight?"

"That depends on the other fellow," said Berger. "Jeff is pretty near right now, but he'll be absolutely right before he puts the gloves on. Delay has been the one thing the public has had any cause to complain of, but remember the fellows who kick now would be the very first to holler if Jeff turned up unfit."

After Jeffries had left a little group of well known sporting men, headed by Bob Vernon, Billy Wright, Walter Knight and Dan McGuinness, still lingered to chuckle over Jeffries' splendid condition.

Jeffries will probably train while in town at Cooper's gymnasium. He wants the preliminaries over as soon as possible, so that he can get back to the mountain air again. The first thing he said yesterday morning as he stepped off the Lusitania was:

"I'm ready to fight Johnson tomorrow."

INJURIES FATAL

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—While responding to box 33 at 740 last evening the horse wagon of engine company 4, Rutland street, struck and ran over a man, believed to be Horace Clark, a plasterer, injuring him to such an extent that he died shortly after his arrival at the relief hospital in the police ambulance of division 1.

The man, who was apparently about 30 years old, stepped from the sidewalk of the southerly side of Howard street, near Court street, immediately after engine 4 had passed and walked directly in the path of the rapidly moving horse wagon.

The driver of the horse wagon could do nothing to avert the accident and the whiffles of the wagon struck the man and knocked him down, the wheels passing over his stomach.

Chaps, Chafos and other skin troubles are quickly relieved by Hood's Loton, which soothes and heals the skin. Try it. 25c. or 50c.

THOS. J. REGAN

Honored by the Textile Workers of America

The Textile Council of this city is greatly pleased over the honor that has been bestowed on Thos. J. Regan.

THOMAS J. REGAN, Chosen Member of the Executive Council of the Textile Association of America.

who was yesterday elected, a member of the executive council of the United Textile Association of America. Mr. Regan came into prominence during the cotton strike in this city several years ago and is one of the most earnest and conservative workers in the interest of the mill operatives.

MANY VICTIMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Japanese liner Hippon Maru, which arrived here yesterday, reported that before leaving Hong Kong the British steamer Kwang arrived there and told of having passed many human bodies at the entrance of Haitian straits. The bodies were washed to spars and were in an advanced stage of decomposition. On one waterlogged sampan thirty bodies were counted.

MARIST BROTHERS

Twenty-one brothers of the Marist order, who teach at St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street, enjoyed an automobile ride to Manchester this morning, the invitation having been extended by Messrs. J. B. Pelneault, Edward Desmarais, A. Delisle, Joseph Marin, Albert Blazon, Stephane Rochette and A. Archambault, who tendered their machines.

The party left the home of the brothers in Moody street at 8 o'clock this morning, and upon arriving in Manchester went to the College St. Marie in Wayne street, where dinner was enjoyed. The return trip was made during the early part of the afternoon.

SEN. GALLINGER'S SON DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—William H. Gallinger, 33 years old, a son of United States Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, died of heart failure last night at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Adelaide E. Johnston. According to Dr. David W. Tovey, who reported the case to the coroner, Mr. Gallinger rose from the dinner table, staggered, and reeled to his bedroom, where he died before help could be summoned. Mr. Gallinger and his father, whose private secretary he had been for many years, returned from Europe last Monday, after a two months' trip of inspection with the waterways commission, of which the senator was a member. The senator left New York for Concord, N. H., his home, yesterday. He is expected here to take charge of the body today.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The important commercial and industrial establishments and educational institutions in Boston and its surrounding cities and towns were today thrown open to three score of the foremost business men of Japan who are making a tour of the United States. The commissioners, attended by about 20 delegates from the various chambers of commerce on the Pacific coast and a number of them accompanied by their wives, arrived by special train from Providence early this forenoon. They were met at the south station by a delegation from the Boston chamber of commerce which will entertain the visitors during the stay here and a tour of the main points of historical, industrial and commercial interest in this section of the state was immediately inaugurated.

As soon as the train pulled into the station the delegates were formed into three sections, according to the purpose of their investigation. The first and largest division which included about half the commission was taken in a special train to Quincy where the distinguished visitors were shown through the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. It was arranged to spend about two hours here and then go in automobiles to Harvard university.

The second section was met at the station by automobiles in which they were taken to the factory of the Waltham Watch Co., in Waltham, leaving after lunch for Harvard.

The five Japanese ladies who are accompanying their husbands in their tour of inspection comprised the third section. They were taken to the Hotel Touraine in this city and a little later in the forenoon left in automobiles for the home of Henry W. Longfellow in Cambridge where they were entertained by the poet's daughter.

In the afternoon the party visited Harvard and attended the football game at the stadium between Harvard and Brown.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The methods which inspired the militant suffragettes in their efforts to obtain "votes for women" in England were laid before Boston sympathizers by Mrs. Emmeline Gould Pankhurst in her opening American campaign speech at Tremont temple last night.

Before an audience of more than 2000, Mrs. Pankhurst described the various contents against the government authorities in England and held her audience for nearly two hours as she noted the prominent salient points in the "civil war" which she said was being carried on at this time in her own country.

She pleaded the cause of women from both the standpoint of a wife and mother, and with energetic arguments claimed that woman's suffrage was based upon the "bill of rights" and that women as well as men always had the right of petition.

She described the recent hunger strike as the most terrible weapon which had been used in the contest and in answer to questions which were freely hurled at her at the conclusion of the meeting went into some of the methods which had been pursued by the authorities of England in attempting to combat that particular phase of the movement.

Mrs. Pankhurst said that the suffragettes were in politics as an appeal as well as a shield for women, and predicted that it would prove a betterment for men. In laying her course before her Boston audience, Mrs. Pankhurst was obliged to describe the social and political phases of British life, and in that part of her address her appeal was in the nature of philanthropy.

She said that legislation was necessary for the education of children and in that legislation women should have an equal voice with men. The only question which was asked of public speakers in England was, "Why do you not give women a chance to vote on public questions which so vitally concern themselves and their children?" She claimed that the workingmen always sided with the women on all these questions and were their greatest support among the male voters. She made no effort to urge her audience to pursue similar methods in America, but nevertheless attempted to show how those methods were received in her own country.

In conclusion, she said that the greatest honor which could come to a suffragette in England was to be dragged forcibly from some meeting and to suffer imprisonment and that 500 women had been so "honored."

BIG AUTO RACE

With Many Entries Was Held at Oakland, Cal., Today

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 23.—Seventeen automobiles started at intervals of a few minutes today over the 21 1/2 mile circuit in the Oakland-Foreoia road races. Although the machines started almost simultaneously, they were entered in three distinct contests.

The first race over the seven laps of the course for an approximate distance of 150 miles was for cars of 231 to 450 inches piston displacement. The second class racers covered approximately 216 miles, making the circuit ten times. These cars were of stock chassis type with a piston displacement from 151 to 600 inches. The third race, constituting the grand prize event of the day, was for racing cars and machines having a piston displacement in excess of 600 inches. This race also was open to cars which qualified in the foregoing events. The distance was approximately 258 miles.

Among the well known drivers competing were: Harris Haubue, who broke a world's record with the "Apparition" at Santa Monica; Harry Michener, at the wheel of a Lozier, with which he has won a number of notable races in the east; Charles Soules, who also has made a name for himself on road and track in the east at the wheel of the Stearns; and Jack Fleming, a local driver of the Pope-Hartford.

The names of the cars, with their drivers and the order in which they started follow:

- 1—Marwell, C. O. King, Sunset, H. Hall, Automobile, Walter Morris.
- 2—Pope-Hartford, Fleming.

IN POLICE COURT

Held in $300 For Sentence Monday—He Had Recently Been in Bridgewater Institution

P. V. McCarthy was arraigned before Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with drunkenness and the larceny of a box of cigars, the property of Calderwood & Robbins.

McCarthy entered Calderwood & Robbins' store in Merrimack square early yesterday afternoon ostensibly for the purpose of purchasing a pipe. While Mr. Calderwood went to get the pipe for the man, McCarthy picked up a box of cigars and rushed out of the store.

Mr. Calderwood followed him out and called to some men to catch him. Patrolman Daniel Lynch caught McCarthy near the corner of John street.

In court this morning McCarthy pleaded guilty to both charges and inasmuch as he is now on parole from the state farm at Bridgewater he was held under $300 bonds for his appearance Monday morning for sentence.

Drunk Offenders

Frank Lyons, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to two months in jail. James H. McHugh will spend the next 20 days in jail.

James McCuskey and William J. Griffin were each fined $5.

There were two first offenders who were fined $2 each.

Several cases which have been before the court on numerous occasions were continued owing to the illness of the principals and the absence of witnesses.

YOUNG'S NEW QUARTERS

Yesterday this well known and leading tonorial establishment, which has been located in the Hildreth building for many years, moved across to the new Wyman's exchange. They have fitted it up with every appliance for carrying on this line of business, and the new establishment is certainly ideal in every way. Their new and original sterilizing apparatus is perfect itself, and the idea was conceived by Mr. J. C. Richards, who is the manager of the barber shop for Mrs. Young.

The ladies' room is also a very important branch of their business where massaging, manicuring, chiropody, and hair dressing can be attended to. Everything in this department is right up to the minute, and there is no reason why this establishment will not be the most popular and profitable place in the city to have your work done. They also make a specialty of children's haircutting, which is an important branch of their business. The place was open for business last evening, and in the future the people who want the best possible service will call at Young's in the new quarters on the second floor of the Wyman's exchange. If you do not care to walk, take the elevator.

ATLANTA'S HORSE SHOW

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—Atlanta's horse show, the most successful in the history of the Atlanta Horse Show association came to a close last night. Again Alfred O. HOME RULE CAUSE

EMINENT ORATORS TO SPEAK HERE TUESDAY EVENING

The executive committee of the United Irish league met last night to arrange for the reception of the Irish envoy, Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Capt. Edward O'Meagher Condon, and John O'Callaghan at Associate hall next Tuesday evening. Lowell is highly honored in securing Mr. O'Connor, who crossed the Atlantic to speak only in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, but President Ryan arbitrarily decided to hold him long enough to go to Chicago and has consented to have him visit Lowell the day after he speaks in Boston.

O'Connor is perhaps the ablest man in the Irish party today in oratory and as a writer. He publishes two papers in London that are widely read by all classes on account of the originality and the ability reflected in their pages.

Capt. Condon's name is imperishably associated with the Manchester martyrs, Allen, Larkin, and O'Brien, who were executed in 1867 for rescuing Fenian prisoners in Manchester. He, too, was sentenced to death, but being an American citizen, he escaped the death penalty, and was given a long sentence in prison. After 11 years he was set at liberty and has been attached to the treasury department at Washington as building inspector. He supervised the building of the Lowell post office.

When sentenced to death in England he uttered that prayer "God Save Ireland," that will resound down the ages long after the tyranny that brought it forth shall have vanished from the earth.

He has just returned from a tour of Ireland and England during which he was royally welcomed.

When O'Connor's name was appointed with Humphrey O'Sullivan as chairman, to meet the gentlemen in Boston and accompany them to Lowell.

There will be a meeting of the league tomorrow evening to make final arrangements for the big meeting. The tickets are for sale at Carter & Sherburne's, Merrimack square.

NEW BEAMING PLANT

Planned by American Hide and Leather Co. for Perry St.

Mr. C. P. Hall of Boston, vice president of the American Hide and Leather company, met with the board of health yesterday afternoon and made application for a permit to build a new and modern beaming plant that will cost $148,000 at the upper end of Perry street.

Physician Ordered Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye.

It was impossible for me to retain food of any kind on my stomach. My Physician ordered Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye in small quantities daily. Since using Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye I have been able to keep my food down without difficulty and am steadily gaining. My food tastes better and my blood seems to circulate more freely. With many thanks,

JOHN TIVNAN, 97 Myrtle Street, Lawrence, Mass.

the statement that Woburn has the worst beaming plants he has ever encountered.

Mr. Hall said: "We agree that we can't do business without the consent of the board of health. We will not go contrary to the wishes of the board. We recognize that health conditions all over the country demand changes."

Dear Sir—The board of health understands that you are now prepared to submit plans and suggestions for the correction of the existing trouble in your beaming plant, and the board will be very glad to meet and confer with you at 5 o'clock p. m. on Friday, Oct. 22, 1909.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 19, 1909. C. P. Hall, Esq., Vice President American Hide and Leather Co., 17 East Street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir—Your letter of the 18th received. I am not yet prepared to submit plans for the changes in the beaming plant. We are at work on the subject, and hope to have definite plans within a short time.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 20, 1909. F. A. Bates, Esq., Agent Board of Health, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir—Your letter of Oct. 18th received. I regret that there should have been any misunderstanding on the part either of the board or of Mr. Phil as to the extent to which our preparations for the new beam house have gone.

There is little doubt now that the next state convention and parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held in this city next August. It is expected that there will be 15,000 men in line.

NIGHT EDITION

To be Shorn by Parliament, Says
T. P. O'Connor, M. P.

Lucid Explanation of the Burning Issues in England—Home Rule Probable in From Three to Five Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—That the signs on the political horizon of Great Britain, in view of the acute situation precipitated by the contest over the nation's annual budget, promise home rule for Ireland within from three to five years, was the message brought to America yesterday by T. P. O'Connor, M. P., one of the leaders of the Irish nationalist party in the house of commons, who arrived aboard the steamship Lusitania.

He will devote his two weeks' stay to a speaking tour of the larger cities under the auspices of the United Irish League, with the object of raising funds for the furtherance of the nationalist cause.

Budget Crucial Factor
"And the budget problem is the crucial factor of the crisis," asserted Mr. O'Connor. "No ministry can survive a defeat on the annual budget. But the powers of the house of lords also form a critical phase in the situation. If that upper house rejects the budget, because of its projected increase of death duties and land taxes, there will be an immediate general election."

"Such an election is bound to produce a liberal majority. And, if the liberals win, the first thing they will do after attending to the financial problem will be to pass a bill in the house of commons which will abolish the absolute veto power held by the house of lords and substitute merely the authority of suspensory veto."

"Then, a home rule bill will be enacted by the lower house and passed up to the higher body. If the latter rejects the measure—for it has been the one stumbling block to Irish progress—the bill will be put up to its members again until it is accepted. That will bring home rule for Ireland at the second session. If the lords refuse to accept, the liberal strength in that body might be augmented by the creation of liberal peers."

"On the other hand, if the house of lords, in order to attempt the aversion of just such a contingency, accepts the budget, either of two things will follow. The liberals will demand an appeal to the country on the question of the powers of the lords; if that is refused the present governmental personnel will stay in office for another year, but that is likely to culminate in a snail-tory or conservative majority dependent on the Irish votes. And no party ever has given Ireland so much as the Irish votes. So, no matter what happens, Ireland is bound to win, and we don't care who helps us to win."

"Ireland has more interest in the next general election than in any election held since the home rule contests of 1885 and 1892. It has at hand the greatest opportunity afforded the Irish cause for a general election."

"Talk of abolition of the house of lords may be heard, but I do not think such a result probable; power of absolute veto, however, is sure to be shorn. The problem of whether the 'peer' of the people are to rule is the burning issue today and it will be decided in favor of the people. Members of the house of lords ought to have no powers of legislation. It is true, for they hold that authority only as a birthright."

Mr. O'Connor contended further, that ultimate passage of the land purchase act is certain under provisions which will lead additional aid in eliminating landlordism from Ireland. During his tour he will speak in Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, New York city and Lowell, Mass.

FOOTBALL GAME

Lowell High vs. Boston English High

The Lowell High school football eleven and the team representing the Boston English High school met on the gridiron at Spalding park this afternoon. The attendance was unusually large, owing in a large measure to the excellent weather as well as the fact that the English High is considered one of the fastest scholastic teams in the state.

These two teams have met year after year, and on every occasion the Boston team has defeated Lowell by a narrow margin. This year the team representing the local school is much faster than it has been in previous years and this fact had a great deal to do with the big attendance.

Last Saturday the Lowell team played a draw with the Boston Latin team which leads the other teams in the Greater Boston League and the good showing of the local eleven has certainly enthused the followers of football in Lowell.

DEATHS
MOWATT—Jennie A. Mowatt, aged 53 years, died last night at her home, 3 Egan's court, off Gorham street. She leaves three sons, Frank, Artemas and Albert, and a sister.

DEVINE—Thomas Devine, a well known young man, died last night at the home of his father, Michael Devine, 20 Riverside avenue, at the age of 22 years and 10 months. He leaves, besides his father, two brothers, Peter and Charles, and an aunt, Mrs. Mary Coleman.

HAMPSON—Julia A. Hampson, a well known resident of Dracut, died this morning at her home, 2 Pleasant street, Dracut, Mass. She was 61 years of age and is survived by a brother, Bernard W., and two sisters, Miss Margaret G. Hampson and Mrs. Andrew Smith.

POWLE—William R. Powle, a very well known citizen of the town of Chelmsford, died yesterday at his home in Billerica street. His age was 64 years.

Mr. Powle was stricken with a shock about two weeks ago as he was going from the Congregational church to his home. Since that time there has been little hope of recovery. In his death the town lost a sterling citizen, one whose work was ever done unobtrusively. Of late years he had conducted a small provision business at his home.

On his 18th birthday anniversary he enlisted in a Massachusetts regiment and went to the front. This was in 1862. He served his term of three years and then re-enlisted in a regiment of regulars. After that he saw considerable fighting in the west. He was a member of Post 155, G. A. R., and the Chelmsford Veterans association. He had been clerk of the Central Congregational society for many years, and was a regular attendant there. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Edward P. of New York and William Powle of Danville, Pa.

MONAHAN—Elizabeth Monahan, aged one year and four months, died last night at the home of the parents, 10 Dunfee street. As death was due to diphtheria, the burial took place this afternoon. C. H. Moley & Sons in charge.

ONANIAN—Mrs. Wartling Onanian, aged 40 years, died this morning at her home, 158 Charles street. She leaves a husband, Bogus Onanian. The remains were removed to the funeral parlors of undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons.

NEW LISTS TUESDAY
The registrars of voters and their clerks were engaged this morning upon the new checklist. This list when completed will include all the names of voters entitled to vote at the state election, which will take place the second day of November. The list is tabulated by the registrars and will be ready for the printers this afternoon, and will be furnished to the democratic and republican headquarters Tuesday afternoon.

INTERESTING MEETING
The congregation of the Elliot Congregational church will listen to a rare treat Sunday evening when James F. Ramsey will speak upon the most interesting of subjects, "A Chapter of Real Life." Mr. Ramsey is well qualified to speak upon this subject, for as a probation officer of the superior criminal court he has come in contact with a great deal of life of all kinds. John Reed of Boston, a probation officer of Suffolk county, will also deliver an address. His subject will cover a wide scope, as he will go into the troubles of those who appear before the courts.

NOMINATION PAPERS DELAYED
This morning City Clerk Dabman announced that the democratic municipal nomination papers were ready for distribution, but inasmuch as the envelopes were delayed the papers could not be issued until Tuesday.

CITY DOCUMENTS

Cannot be Compiled as Required by Ordinance

Until Charity Board "Loosens
Up" and Has its Annual Report Printed

The charity department in its effort to save money bids fair to make the city ridiculous in the eyes of the other cities of the commonwealth along with violating a provision of the ordinances relative to public documents. At a recent meeting of the board Commissioner Howe called attention to the fact that while the annual report of the department for 1908 has been in the safe in the office of the board for over four months it has not been printed and distributed as yet and hence the state statistician has nothing to show that Lowell has a pauper department or any paupers. Mr. Howe's suggestions, the waste basket, figuratively speaking, and the report still remains hidden away in the safe while the city clerk will not be able to complete his city documents until the report of the pauper department has been printed. The ordinances bearing on the matter are as follows: Chapter VIII, City Documents.

Sec. 57. All city documents (except the rules and regulations for the government of the police and fire departments) shall be printed in pamphlet form of the size of the annual report of the school board.

Sec. 58. All city documents shall be bound together in one volume under the direction of the city clerk and three or more copies placed in the city library; and one copy in the library of the Middlesex Mechanics association. One copy shall be sent to each city in the commonwealth, the library at Harvard college, the public library at Boston, the state library, the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and the Old Residents' Historical society of Lowell.

It would be rather shameful for Lowell to have to admit to these institutions that it could not furnish a complete set of city documents because the charity department in order to save about $100, had neglected to have its annual report printed as required by ordinance.

Sec. 59. All city documents (except the rules and regulations for the government of the police and fire departments) shall be printed in pamphlet form of the size of the annual report of the school board.

Sec. 60. All city documents shall be bound together in one volume under the direction of the city clerk and three or more copies placed in the city library; and one copy in the library of the Middlesex Mechanics association. One copy shall be sent to each city in the commonwealth, the library at Harvard college, the public library at Boston, the state library, the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and the Old Residents' Historical society of Lowell.

It would be rather shameful for Lowell to have to admit to these institutions that it could not furnish a complete set of city documents because the charity department in order to save about $100, had neglected to have its annual report printed as required by ordinance.

Sec. 61. All city documents (except the rules and regulations for the government of the police and fire departments) shall be printed in pamphlet form of the size of the annual report of the school board.

Sec. 62. All city documents shall be bound together in one volume under the direction of the city clerk and three or more copies placed in the city library; and one copy in the library of the Middlesex Mechanics association. THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

SWEEPING THE STREETS.

Several parties have complained that during the fine weather we have had since the middle of the summer, our public streets have been swept, where swept at all, during the day instead of at night. It is a common thing even on Sunday mornings to see street laborers go around picking up papers and other rubbish, all of which should have been taken up by the street sweepers the night before, if things were done as they should be. We recognize the fact that the street department has a big job on its hands in the paving of Merrimack square, but that does not require the entire force of men or horses and this matter of sweeping the streets at night so as to gather up the dust and rubbish that collects during the day should not be neglected.

THE ARKWRIGHT CONSPIRACY.

It becomes the republican party to be boasting of prosperity while the textile factories of the country are talking about curtailment. The proposed curtailment seems to be a combination in restraint of trade and should be investigated with a view to action under the anti-trust law. The order to curtail goes out to mills that have to work nights to supply the demand for their goods.

It is true that the extent of the curtailment proposed is not very great, but small as it is, it is unnecessary. It will probably be utilized as part of the vacation next summer and the most that it will amount to in the meantime will be two hours a week. That is not likely to be started before next year.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

Eugene N. Foss is adding zest to the state campaign. He is showing up the inequities of the present tariff law, the overpowering force of the Lodge political machine, the inconsistencies of Governor Draper and the malign influence of the legislative lobby. He invites ex-Governor Guild to join the democratic party in order to escape being run over by the Lodge steam roller.

Verily, Mr. Foss is making things very uncomfortable for the republican leaders, while Mr. Vabey, the democratic candidate, is hammering away at the income tax issue, republican extravagance and the need of a change that will remove some of the political barnacles that have fastened themselves to the body politic.

CHARTER REFORM.

The discussion on charter reform held at the Highland Congregational church on Wednesday evening was highly interesting and instructive. The Haverhill speakers proved very forcibly that the city is much better off and is getting far better results for the money expended than it ever did under the old charter. The gentlemen who spoke of conditions in Haverhill were free to admit that there never was anything in the nature of open graft or dishonesty in the city government, but there seemed to be a lack of individual supervision and responsibility that permitted extravagance and the unnecessary or ill advised outlay of money. This is where the saving has been effected.

It was very evident from the statements made by the Haverhill gentlemen that everybody in that city is well pleased with the change and that the business of the government is transacted in a more satisfactory manner with fewer officials, smaller outlay and less red tape than formerly. One thing emphasized in the discussion applied with peculiar fitness to Lowell. It was the statement that any city wanting a charter from the legislature must get its people united upon some definite form and demand its enactment. The legislature hesitates to grant a charter to any city while the people are not largely of one mind as to what they want. If the city of Lowell wants a charter, it will have to unite all the discordant elements in favor of some particular form of charter. That is the main object now to be overcome by this city. It is necessary to get a charter that will be acceptable alike to republicans and democrats, to labor men and capitalists, rich and poor alike. The organization that sets out to draft a charter, should have the co-operation of every society or public body interested, so that a consensus of opinion may be secured to support a demand upon the legislature for the enactment of the measure. Of course no such body would ask the enactment of a charter without the referendum, as to do so would be useless for the legislature would never grant such a request.

THE INCOME TAX ISSUE.

The income tax is the most important issue now before the people. It is proposed to have an amendment of our federal constitution providing for the levying of such a tax. The democratic party passed a law during the Cleveland administration authorizing the imposition of an income tax, but the supreme court overruled it.

The aim is to impose a tax on income, so that those who have the means to pay may be obliged to pay their fair share of the taxes. Such a tax would help to prevent the accumulation of vast fortunes, such as those of Carnegie or Rockefeller, and thus in time to overcome one of the great evils of our day, to wit, the accumulation of wealth in the hands of the few to the extent that a few money kings can practically defy the power of the government. Moreover, the income tax would supply revenue for the government, so that it would not be necessary to raise so much by means of a tariff on imports.

The legislative candidates who do not favor the income tax should not be elected. They are opposed to a measure that would particularly benefit the masses, and that would be of great advantage to the country in emergencies when any extraordinary expenditure would be necessary.

GREEN AND REDS

SPONDER'S MISTRESS

Let Cowley, sort in an amorous verse:
The ravings of his love rehearse:
With passion loud and unrelenting,
Boast how he wooed sweet Amoret.
The robbing Jane, the sprightly Bet,
The lily fair, and smart brunette,
In sweet succession truly.

But list ye lovers, and you'll swear,
I rove'd with him beyond compare.
And was far more unlucky,
For never yet in Yankee coast
Were found such girls, who so could bunnet.
An honest lover's heart to roast,
From Casco to Kentucky.

When first the girls nicknam'd me
beast,
And I was all for dress and show,
I set me out a courting.
A romping Miss, with headless art,
First caught, then almost broke my heart.
Miss Conductor nam'd, we soon did part,
I did not like such sporting.

The next coquet who raised a flame,
Was far more grave and somewhat
lame.
She in my heart did rankle,
She condescend'd with a sudden glance,
The spiteful maid was called Miss
Chance.

I took the gypsy out to dance;
She almost broke my ankle.
A thoughtless girl, just in her teens,
Was the next fair, whom Love it
seems.

I had made me prize most highly,
I thought to court a lovely maid,
But, how it made my heart to ache,
It was that jade, the vile Miss Take;
In truth, Love did it slyly.

And last, Miss Fortune, whimpering,
Came,
Curd me of Love's tormenting flame,
And all my heart pretenses.
In widow's weeds, the prude appears;
See now—she drowns me with her
tears.
With honey fist, now slaps my ears,
And brings me to my senses.

A WRONG NOTION

Eczema Not a Blood Disease

Eczema, the most common of all skin disorders, is no longer considered a blood disease by the best physicians.
Internal medicines and physics are practically useless in treating it. External remedies used heretofore have frequently been beneficial, but the permanent cure of eczema was long thought to be impossible. It was this deplorable condition that inspired the chemist who discovered the new remedy, Cadum. Since Cadum was introduced a short time ago, experience has shown that long treatments with it
are unnecessary, two or three weeks
being usually sufficient for an ordinary case of eczema. A single application will entirely subdue the itching,
and will also accomplish wonderful
results in ringworm, itch, acne, scab-bles, itching piles, chafing, boils, inflamed skin, red and inflamed noses,
pimples, blackheads, etc. Where the disease presents an unsightly appearance, the thin coating of Cadum almost conceals the blemish. The graduated results which have attended the use of Cadum in the treatment of eczema and other skin diseases warrant
the belief that there never has before
been introduced to the public such an efficient and perfect product as Ca-
dum. It is free from all poisonous and dangerous mixtures. Every ingredient for which a standard of purity is set by the Pharmacopoeia, com-
plies with the standard, so as to secure
the great efficacy which this new remedy possesses. All druggists supply Cadum at 10c and 25c per box.

JUSTICE PECKHAM'S ILLNESS HAS ALARMED WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The illness
of Justice Rufus W. Peckham at Altamont, N. Y., is being closely watched by many persons in public and private life here. Neither Justice Peckham nor Justice Moody, who is now ill in Boston, has appeared in Washington since
the convening of the fall term of court,
though the latest reports from Justice
Moody are favorable. Of course the work of the court goes on without appreciable delay, though the cases assigned to the absentees for the writing

of decisions will probably be held up for some time. What these cases are is not known, as the distribution of decisions among the separate justices is
not given out. Five justices of the supreme court constitute a quorum, and
seven out of nine have been in regular attendance since the convening of the term.

It seems that the title of the new

issued by the directors of the Comedie is to be called "Après Mlle De Laugel"

probably translate itself into the En-

owns the English speaking rights of the play, but it is a curious fact that the contracts existing between the Comedie Francaise and the authors
who write for its stage forbid the authors from even showing the manuscript of their play before it has been
acted on the stage of the Comedie.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Anything that is clean and amusing, new and instructive, is harmless to any mind, young or old, and hence there is nothing harmful in the vaudeville and moving picture show that is daily presented at the Academy of Music. The management of which aims to make this theatre the ideal picture theatre of Lowell, and especially caters to ladies and children. While the primary object of the management is to amuse, nevertheless there is much of an instructive nature on the program. Today is continuous performance day and the show starts at 2 and will run continuously with no waits or delays until 10.30 tonight. Lydia Drums & Co., in a novel ventriloquist act, and Carl Verde in novelty musical instruments have scored heavily this week. The feature biograph picture "His Last Love," tells a beautiful story, and is well acted.

THEATRE VOYONS

Thousands of the patrons of motion pictures with their rough riding, their clean comedy and thrilling action than they do for the other classes of dramatic features. These will have their fill of western realism Monday when Theatre Voyons will offer "The Cowboy Millionaire." While many of the scenes of this picture take place in the east, the principals are all westerners
and the whole picture has the western dash and go to it. The one exciting
scene is at a round up where the cowboys perform some thrilling stunts than have ever been seen before. In fact one of the men gets away with a stunt that has been accomplished but three times with safety. Another time
a bucking broncho turns a complete
somersault in its efforts to unseat the daring rider. This picture is destined to be the most successful of its kind ever shown.

A great western picture, "The Maid of the Mountains," and the funniest moving picture ever produced, "The Runaway Horse," are features of today's show at the Star theatre. Tonight the first performance will start at 8.30 o'clock in order that each and every patron will be enabled to procure a seat.
A big vaudeville act will be Monday's feature. Pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
A new vaudeville bill is given every Thursday.

Corsets of the Winter

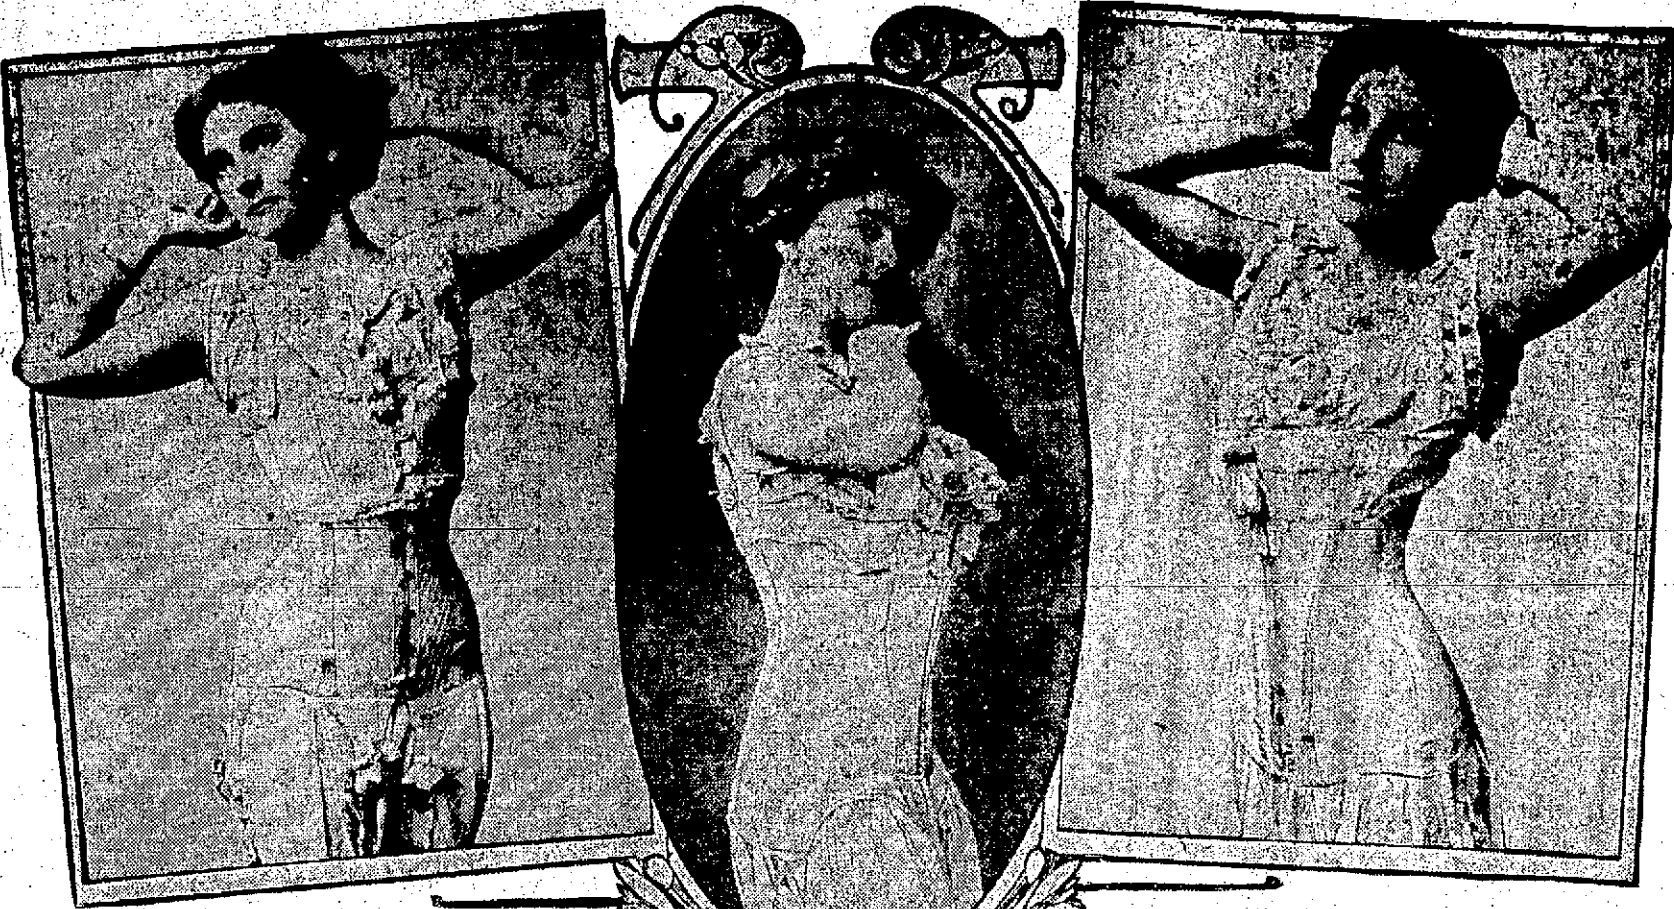

The New Models Combine a Fashionable Cut With Unusual Comfort --- Moyen Age Lines

...which the corset is made of. Especially in the winter, when the weather is so cold, the corset is a necessity. It is interesting to note that Catherine de Medici was the first person to wear a corset made of steel and that at a little later period corset makers began to substitute bone for ivory. It was, I believe, in the reign of Louis XIII. that whalebone for this purpose was introduced. Indeed, the origin of the corset has been open to much debate. Some historians have dated it from the little waistbands of the Egyptians and

True Badge of Blue Blood

Ability and Disposition to Do Any Kind of Work When Necessity Blows the Bugle Indicate Character.

To be aristocratic is all very well, my friends, and being somewhat of a snob myself, I have sympathy with the class. But remember this—the true badge of blue blood is to be able to do any class of work when it is necessary. I have just received a visit from a woman who is very hard up, indeed, but instead of getting busy at any old job that will bring her the necessities of life she is living at the expense of a little woman much better born than she is, by the way, who fortunately is enough of a thoroughbred to work for both. Sometimes I get out of patience with women who have only too little money and yet haven't the nerve and pluck to reduce their expenses and get down to any kind of work that presents itself, instead of waiting for the golden chance that is worthy of them (at least so they think). It is the women who have the least money who spend it the most recklessly, which accounts for their being as dead broke as they are half the time. Take the subject of the cleaner's bill, for example. Have you any idea how many things there are that will wash? An Essay on Lace Cleaning, Etc. The average woman never finds out because she never takes the trouble to investigate. It is all right to patronize the dry cleaners if you have the money, but if you haven't you had better pick out articles of dress that will stand a good scrubbing with soap and water. Fortunately there are many of these. For instance, a heavy lace waist, lined with point d'esprit or brussels net, will launder beautifully, but the same thing lined with chiffon means rags and a perpetual cleaner's bill. Of course there are very fine and dainty waists that have to be made over, and these are not for the woman of small means. Then there are many varieties of woolen goods that wash far better than they clean. Among these are black and white checks, white serges and even some grades of white broadcloth. A white unlined broadcloth cape of good quality can be laundered over and over again, and a friend of mine has a black and white wool checked dress, also unlined, that she puts regularly in the tub. On the other hand, when a garment needs cleaning I do not believe in the homemade naphtha operation. I am sorry to say it is apt to be decidedly starchy and "smell to high heaven." Dry cleaning is not an operation in which the average woman excels, and she had better leave it to those who make of it a profession. The woman who economizes at any rate, should do so sensibly. Too many women, alas, are penny wise and pound foolish. They think they are saving, but in reality spend more money than their most extravagant sisters. One woman of my acquaintance thought it was extravagant to have an account in a bank where they draw checks, and yet she spent more than her interest from the savings bank because she had to make so many trips there. Another kept her old clothes for an indefinite period, fixing them over each year, priding herself that she bought no new ones, and yet she spent enough for new gowns many times over in the old gowns she fixed. Another woman trimmed her own hats, but she quickly grew tired of them because they didn't look right. The result was her closets were filled with hats, not one of them being smart looking. But the total cost of this millinery would have certainly paid for one excellent model. Many women consider that homely things must be practical and for this reason always buy the ugliest and heaviest of materials. Their economy is, the easiest to show up, but it is usually exercised on children and dependents, so one does not have a chance to hear many complaints, and as soon as these people are emancipated they fly to the other extremes and comfort themselves. Good Judgment Means Economy. Economy means simply good judgment, the power to decide between two things when one has not the money for both. When well practiced it means a thorough training for the mind and the taste; when badly exercised it is the most foolish thing on earth. The woman who persists in speaking the truth and in having "set" ideas will never proceed very far socially. Society is not a lecture platform or a reform club, and people who want every one to think as they think had far better live alone, where they will suffer no opposition. People with convictions may be and doubtless are the salt of the earth, but in ordinary, everyday communication with their fellow beings they are impossible. They judge people by the most exalted standards, and when these individuals fall short the person with convictions has no earthly use for them. Some one has to give in and be elastic in this world or we should be a lot of perfectly hateful people. It strikes me that the woman who has no particular views to offend anybody and who can smile and joke about everything makes the biggest hit of them all. Hate Clyde

LACED IN FRONT MODEL.

A SIMPLE AND SENSIBLE CORSET NOVELTY IN SILK JERSEY WEBBING.

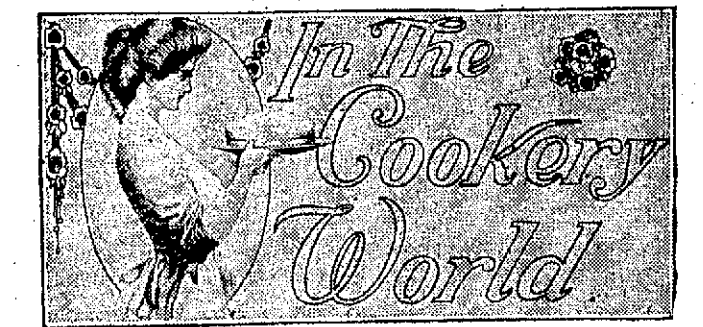

THAT whaleboneless thing a corset? I heard one woman scornfully ask another as they stood before a shop window in upper Fifth avenue where new corset models are on exhibition. "Yes, dear," came the dulcet reply, "the very latest scream—a stay made of silk jersey, which fits the figure snugly and is so comfortable you don't realize you have it on." "Well, I'm pleased to meet it for I haven't sat down with a minute's real peace since the extra long corsets came in," said the inquirer. After the above conversation I entered the shop and was told by an unusually gracious saleswoman that the exhibit represented the smartest corsets just received from Paris, which models are reproduced for your benefit in the illustrations. The gown has made the corset and is still making it for the new examples are designed for middle age fashions. It just happens that all of the moyen age dresses and frocks with these lines demand the reformation that takes a woman's figure back to the makeup of the original Mother Eve. In these -awest models the corsetiers has retained the long straight appearance by taking the decided curve out of the side and bust gorges, and he has made a lower bust, which gives the wearer room to breathe and develop

her lungs and a space in which to move and to keep her digestion in good order. One of the very low bust corsets has a bust supporter of tricot. Though the boning extends but a few inches over the hips, the material is sufficiently firm to hold the figure tautly with the aid of the hose supporters. And apropos of these supporters, the corset of the winter requires a distressing number of garters since the long sides and back must not be allowed to wrinkle or slip up the bones which hold the upper part smooth and at a reasonable depth. Four sets of garters are put upon many of the corsets, and in spite of patent clasps much havoc has been wrought in the

These fashionable new corsets have few bones, and they are wonderfully comfortable things to wear. The modern woman does not expect her corset to reduce her hips to the vanishing point; she knows full well that this is only accomplished by exercise, massage, diet, etc., although the perfect fitting stay does make the most of a reasonably good figure. To sum up the Parisian models—which, by the way, are not so remarkably different from the corsets we have been wearing all summer—one might say that the bust line is lower, the bones cut to a reasonable length, although the material continues long over the hips, and the line in front from the waist is short-

Greeks, and there are others who affirm that the corset was never heard of until the middle ages. It was then known by the name of justaucorps, and later it was called surcoat and corsetus. At that time it was a stiff contrivance that laced front and back, this last form being introduced by Isobel of Bavaria. An improvement on this royal invention is to be observed in the new Margatno Lacroix laced front corset developed in a lightweight batiste. In this model steels are few in number and are light and flexible, making the garment less cumbersome and the wearer's figure more supple. CATHERINE TALBOT New York.

HALLOWEEN CAKE. The spook cake is merely a large angel food cake baked in a loaf pan with a cylinder in the middle. After the cake is iced with white icing (made with pulverized sugar and no water) the edge is outlined with one inch candles cut from a medium sized candle. Each guest is given a slice of cake containing a horseshoe, and, of course, it is supposed to be a true delineation of the future. Heat the end of the candle to melt the wax run before slicing it on the icing. The wax will hold the short candle and horseshoe in place.

FOR SUNDAY LUNCHEON. A delicious luncheon course for Sunday, when the man of the family has to be coaxed into thinking home is the best place after all, is a small chicken en casserole, with peas and carrots. Each casserole is first rubbed with garlic, which gives a delicious, indefinite flavor to the whole.

CARE OF THE TEETH.

A FAMOUS old Frenchman was once heard to say that a woman with really good teeth could never be plain. This may be rather a sweeping statement, but there is no doubt that an otherwise plain appearance is often redeemed by a perfect set of teeth and the effect of many a pretty face marred by bad teeth. Perfectly formed, even, white teeth are a natural gift, but much can be done to improve the color and keep them in good condition, chief among these little attentions being careful brushing night and morning. Now, while every one cleans his or her teeth in the morning, very many people, unfortunately for their teeth, neglect to do so at night, and this is a very serious mistake. During the night the particles of food which have lodged between the teeth during the day produce incalculable damage, and if but two or three minutes be given to brushing them at night much of the decay would be arrested. The presence of tartar upon the teeth is a source of annoyance to a great many people. It is not only unsightly, but causes the teeth to ache. This tartar can be removed easily without the aid of a dentist. Purchase a small piece of magnesia, wet the toothbrush in warm water, dip it into the magnesia and rub the teeth upon which the tartar has collected. The value of carbonate of soda as a preservative of the teeth cannot be too highly prized. If a pinch of it is added to the water in which the teeth are cleaned night and morning the benefit derived will soon be realized. A good plan is to dissolve a teaspoonful of the soda in a tumbler of water, dip into this a coarse cotton or silk thread and pass it up and down between the teeth to remove any particles of food which may have gathered in the crevices. Too great care cannot be exercised in the choice of tooth powder, and anything which professes to whiten the teeth may destroy the enamel and thus do irreparable harm. Once in six weeks it is a good plan to brush the teeth lightly with finely powdered pumice stone. At the first sign of decay a dentist should be consulted and the cavity filled, for neglect to do this must result in the loss of the tooth eventually, and, although the modern art of dentistry is now so perfect that false teeth can be procured to look exactly like one's own, they can never be really quite the same. Once mature years have been reached nothing can be done for the shape of the teeth or toward regulating their position, but those who have the care of children should see that these matters are promptly attended to by a good dentist, for much of the pain and discomfort which people experience through them could have been prevented by a little attention in childhood. While I am on the subject of teeth I would like to say a word about lips. Pale, colorless lips are by no means beautiful. Generally they are caused by ill health or a poor circulation. A little gentle friction with a rough Turkish towel will do much to improve them. DAPHNE DEAN.

HALLOWEEN GAMES.

What Happens When the Prince of Darkness Presides at the Party. A Halloween celebration at which the Prince of Darkness personally presides can be made very effective. The invitations should be written in red on black paper, and the guests should be asked to wear masks. The hostess should be dressed as a witch in black, with peaked hat and broom, and Satan wears red, with a red mask. There are also various subsidiary friends (small brothers and sisters) dressed in black, with rope tails, painted caps and toasting forks at the ends of sticks. A room can be arranged as hades, or the basement can be used for the purpose, in which case the furnace door can be thrown open at intervals with great effect. A throne of boxes draped in black is erected in the center of hades, and on it Satan sits, with a book of record in his lap. A dictionary serves the purpose excellently. At the appointed time the hostess swings open the gates of hades or conducts the guests by a circuitous route to the basement. Two bands rush forward, seize a guest and begin to prod him with their forks. Chains clank, groans are heard, and the victims are led to the foot of the throne. Here is where most of the fun comes in, for Satan knows or has been primed with all the interesting facts in the history of each guest. In a hollow voice he reads long lists of sins from the dictionary, and all the time the fiends are "torturing" the victim. As soon as one is sentenced to toothache, malaria, unrequited love or headache another victim is brought before the throne until all have been disposed of. At supper all unmask. Satan sits at one end of the table and the witch at the other, and there is a gypsy's kettle in the center, which later emits a ghastly light from burning alcohol sprinkled on salt.

FRENCH EVENING FROCKS. These frocks are French creations from the house of Dreou, and show the smart lines that are followed by the up to date evening costume of the season. Soft satin is the material used in both models, and the very is of Egyptian designs.

JUST GATHERED UP.

A girl recently returned from a series of visits asked not to be questioned as to how much she enjoyed it, as she had been living in the divorce zone. "In every family in those places, and I went to five colonies," she said, "there had been a divorce, and the one topic was the heart hunger that had made one or the other seek fresh fields. I could not quite understand why any woman should be hungry for love and sympathy when endowed with a decent husband and children or why it was always the most eligible bachelor that was hungered for."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt grows more and more impatient with mere man. When she first took up the cause she was lenient, but she has progressed steadily until at present it seems she is unmerciful. A woman to whom she was talking suffrage recently expressed little interest in the argument, and her indifference afterward was explained by Mrs. Catt as follows: "The trouble with Mrs. Black is that she fairly worships her husband. She thinks he is absolutely perfect. Why, the woman really believes the parrot taught him to swear." Women who are doff with their hands can make all manner of trifles for the house out of tissue paper. Among the serviceable articles thus made are table mats to slip under hot dishes. They are composed of strips of tissue paper braided, like the old fashioned braided mats. A piece of cardboard is the foundation. Glove and handkerchief cases, sachets and many other things for the dressing table are made of flowered tissue paper and are very pretty.

The chamomel treatment is the latest thing for the complexion and is said to produce the pearl like pallor which is modish just now. The skin is massaged gently with a cleansing food; then while moist it is rubbed with a strip of the chamomel which has been wet with warm water, covered with a layer of some pure kind of soap and then allowed to dry. When dry it is soft and fine and very good for the skin, says a beauty specialist.

recently gone into very large and luxurious business quarters on the seventeenth story of a Fifth avenue office building in New York city. Mrs. Belmont holds no office in the organization, but from her own office, which, by the way, is the smallest in the suit of rooms, she expects to direct the work of the society. Although a very convincing speaker on the subject of votes for women, Mrs. Belmont is understood, will not make any public speeches in favor of the franchise. Her rival in the suffrage work—Mrs. Clarence Mackay—seems to have lost much of her enthusiasm as a suffragette. She is silent now, where a few months ago she was freely expressing herself in favor of votes for women. Mrs. Belmont now stands in the limelight, where Mrs. Mackay stood only a short time ago, and there have

A woman who is a famous housekeeper has hit upon a clever plan to save her napkins from fruit stains. She purchases plain white paper napkins with scalloped edges and has them on the table whenever fruit is served. Her family and guests alike are requested to use them instead of the fine napkins, for every housewife knows only too well how badly fruit stains them and how hard it is to remove the stains.

The fourth annual dancing party of the Pansy club was held last night in Prescott hall and proved to be as successful as the socials previously conducted by the club. The music for dancing was furnished by the Gilmore orchestra.

The success of the affair was due to the efficient work of the following officials:

PHILIP WERLEIN, PRESIDENT NEW ORLEANS PROGRESSIVE UNION

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—President Taft will face the most distinguished gathering of his entire 13,000 mile trip when he addresses the lakes to the gulf deep waterways convention at New Orleans on Oct. 30. The governors of two-thirds of the states in the Union will be present as well as a large number of senators and representatives from the states of the middle west. So intense is the interest of all public men as well as the agricultural, mining, manufacturing and stock raising element, of the territory between the Western Reserve and the Rocky mountains in the ship canal project that all these lines of business will be actively represented at the meeting. The middle west intends to strike the hardest blow of its history for commercial supremacy on this occasion. New Orleans has made such preparations to entertain its distinguished guests as no southern city ever did before. The New Orleans Progressive union, of which Philip Werlein is president, will be chief host of the visitors, and all the clubs and business organizations of the city, famous for its lavish hospitality, will vie with one another in showing the president the time of his life during his stay.

SEN. McCARREN DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Patrick H. McCarran, state senator and democratic leader of Brooklyn, died at St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn at 1:15 o'clock this morning, never having completely rallied from the effects of an operation for appendicitis which was performed on October 14. Patrick Henry McCarran, by trade a cooper, by profession a lawyer, and by vocation a politician, was one of the most picturesque figures in the political history of Greater New York. No leader was ever more roundly condemned, yet at the close of sixty-one years of his life he probably was the most strongly entrenched leader in New York state and even wielded some influence in national politics.

Born in East Cambridge, Mass., he came to Brooklyn when he was eight years old. He was apprenticed to a cooper when sixteen, but having mastered his trade, he took up the law, and from the law went into politics. In 1882 he was sent to the state legislature and has since served almost continuously there.

Senator McCarran first became recognized as a coming leader in the days when David B. Hill was at the height of his power. By 1898 he had become so well recognized that the democratic state committee made him head of the executive committee. Five years later he secured the leadership of Brooklyn from Hugh McLaughlin, who had held it for 40 years. Since that time the senator had won all primaries, though his political death was predicted each year. At the democratic national convention which nominated Alton B. Parker the task of inducing southern leaders to remain in line, following the arrival of the famous "Gold" telegram, fell on McCarran's shoulders.

McCarran's opposition to the candidacy of Mr. Hearst for governor led to charges of treason, and his delegates were excluded from the party convention, which last year named delegates to the Denver national convention. Nevertheless he appeared there with delegates who were again rejected. His downfall was then confidently predicted, but only last month he received what he regarded as final vindication when he won nineteen of the twenty-three districts of his borough.

Physically Sen. McCarran was very tall and lank. In manner he was courteous, and generous of attention, but miserably of speech. The qualities which in the opinion of his friends contributed most to his success in politics, were keenness, tenacity of purpose, personal fidelity, perfect self-control and patience.

He was sometimes called a hard man and devoid of sentiment. "I had a romance once," he said to a close friend. "When I was a young man I fell in love with a girl and we were married. We lived very happily. We had five children. When I was thirty-one I had buried my wife and five children."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL.

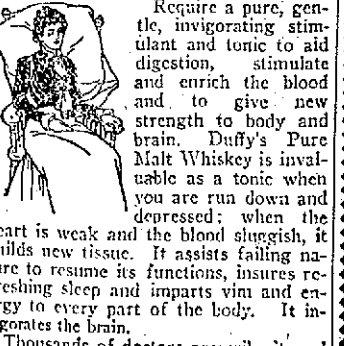

The regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men was held last night. There was a good sized attendance and considerable business of importance was transacted during the evening. A communication was received from the great council of the United States, stating that the order has reached 500,000 members.

Interesting remarks on tribal affairs were made by L. P. Steele, L. F. Moody, F. Biny and the sachem. At the close of the tribal meeting, the Loft of Haymakers held its monthly meeting. Chief Haymaker James Kershaw on the haystack. The companions were greatly interested in the business that came up for action. Six applications were received, and the degree staff performed the ceremony of initiation on eight candidates in an impressive manner. Pianist L. P. Steele and State Deputy J. H. Hinkley spoke on degree work as performed by lofts throughout the state. The scribe, Arthur W. Garland, stated the loft was in a good condition financially and in point of membership.

Remarks were made by Companions F. M. Merrill, H. Mitchell, J. Taylor and others on the welfare of the loft.
